Scattering Of Narrow Gains Noted

Trading Pace Seen Active At Opening; Tape Running Late

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pulled out of an early retreat today and posted some good gains. Trading was active and the ticker tape fell seven minutes behind transactions.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market nosed gently downward at the opening today.

Most leading issues declined a few cents a share but there was a scattering of narrow gains. The trading pace was active and the tape ran late.

Investors and brokers were watching closely for signs whether the market was in for a repetition of Monday's sharp selling onslaught or whether a rally was in store.

International Paper fell 37 cents to $28.62 on an opening block of 4,700 shares. U.S. Steel lost 12 cents to $50.37 and International Telephone 50 cents to $37.50.

However, General Electric added 62 cents to $63.62 on 3,300 shares, Royal Dutch Petroleum gained 12 cents to $34.75 and Illinois Central Railroad picked up 12 cents to $36.12.

The market's loss Monday was about half the size of that suffered May 28, when the Dow Jones industrial average plunged 34.95. And it wiped out about half of the recovery that was staged later last week.

Lisbon Area Man Hurt

Truck Rams Negley Store Front

A Lisbon area trucker was injured shortly before 10 a. m. today when his empty coal truck rammed into the front of . Negley general store along Route 154, damaging the structure.

Arnold McCall, 54, of Lisbon R. D. 3 was undergoing treatment for head and neck injuries at Salem City Hospital where he was taken unconscious in an ambulance after the crash.

Witnesses said the large semi-trailer truck, owned by the Tassi Coal Co. of near West Point, was headed east when the driver apparently applied brakes near the intersection of Route 170 and the rig jackknifed and went out of control.

The big truck veered off the roadway and crashed into the front of Dick & Dot's Store, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Whitslar.

Mrs. Whitslar, alone in the store at the time, heard the squeal of brakes and saw the truck heading toward the building, and she jumped over the check-out counter and ran to the back of the store.

Her husband only a few minutes earlier had been in front of the one-story concrete block structure, taking down signs.

There were no autos parked in front of the store at the time.

McCall was taken by Negley firemen in their ambulance to an East Palestine physician, then on to the hospital.

Bills Delayed By Split Votes After Debate

Sewer Charge Plan And Appropriation Given 1st Reading

Heated debate marked Council's consideration of two proposed ordinances Monday night and both were given only the first of three required readings because of split votes.

Council divided, 4-3, on legislation that would allow the Board of Public Utilities to assess quarterly sewage charges on "improved" properties that front on city sewer lines, whether or not they're actually connected to the mains.

There was a 5-2 split on an amended appropriation ordinance that would provide $3,890 to make the final payment to the Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry and East Liverpool for sealcoating a series of blacktop streets in 1961, particularly Pennsylvania Ave., Mulberry St. and W. 4th St.

Councilmen Frank Duffy, Floyd Murray and Edward Massey, the three Democratic members, voted against extending the sewage charges. Murray and Duffy also opposed the appropriation amendment, asserting the city should not pay for the sealcoat until a recurring "bleeding" condition is corrected.

The Republican members, Councilmen George E. Willshaw, Robert W. Sample Jr., S. James Welch and Kenneth C. Berg, voted for the proposal to extend sewage charges. They also voted in favor of appropriating funds to pay the sealcoat contractor, along with Massey.

Second reading is scheduled on the ordinances at the next regular meeting June 18. At least six affirmative votes would be required to approve the appropriation measure at a single session, as it contains an emergency clause that would place it in effect immediately after Mayor Bert H. Goodballet's approval.

The ordinance on sewage charges does not contain an emergency clause, which means there would be a 30-day wait after passage before it became effective.

Duffy and Murray charged that the measure to extend sewage charges is a plan to boost the revenue of the sewage department without giving property - owners any service in return.

Proponents of the measure pointed out that the ordinance would levy the charges only in

Chester Voting Seen 'Good' Despite Rain

Despite forenoon showers, a fairly good turnout of Chester voters headed to the polls in the municipal general election today, precinct workers reported.

A mayoralty contest between Harry Abrams, Republican, and John S. Duffy, Democrat, sparks the balloting which will see five councilman and a city clerk-treasurer named for two years.

The breakdown in voting shows 70 cast ballots in the First Ward by 11 a. m., 82 in the Second Ward, 51 in the Third Ward, 72 in the Fourth Ward and 62 in the Fifth Ward. Polls will close tonight at 7:30.

Council Study Continues On Premium Pay

A special investigating committee reported to Council Monday night it has approved a proposal to pay premium rates for overtime work in the police, water and street departments, but recommended that the finance committee study the question further to determine if funds are available to make it an actuality.

The report was given to Council by Councilman Edward Massey, chairman of a committee named May 21 to study recommendations originally made by the finance committee. Other members of the study group were Councilmen Floyd Murray and S. James Welch.

The committee recommends payment to policemen at the rate of one and a half times their regular hourly rates for all work in excess of 40 hours in any one week, Massey said. It recommends the same premium rate for the street and water department employes "for all work over their established work weeks," he said.

Massey said the street department now works 44 or 45 hours a week, but he is not certain of the length of the water department's regular work week.

Accepting another recommendation of the finance committee, the study group recommended two hours "callback" pay for city employes called to duty outside their regular working hours. The extra pay would apply principally to street department workers summoned to duty at night in the wintertime to spread ashes and salt on slippery streets.

Council accepted Massey's report, then referred it to the finance committee, of which Councilman George E. Willshaw is chairman.

Massey also reported his committee is continuing an investigation of a proposal for hospital insurance for city employes. He said figures have been obtained from one concern. The study committee may meet Thursday evening to discuss the question further, he said.

86 Telephone Employes To Get Pay Raise

Ohio Bell, Union Sign New Contract In Cleveland Talks

Eighty-six employes of the East Liverpool office will receive wage increases under a new contract signed Monday by the Communications Workers of America (AFL-CIO) and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. after negotiations in Cleveland.

According to the Associated Press, the contract raises the wages 3½ per cent or an average of 9.4 cents hourly. The agreement is expected to set the pattern for 700,000 telephone company employes throughout the country.

The increases are retroactive to May 27 for 16,000 workers in Ohio. They were negotiated under a wage reopener clause as part of a three-year contract which ends next May.

A local CWA official explained varying pay scales are in affect throughout the state.

Local craftsmen will get an increase of $4 a week while operators will receive $2 more weekly.

The maximum wages, which are in effect in Cleveland, will see craftsman get $133 weekly compared to $128 formerly. Operators' maximums went up $3 to $81 and service representatives rose $3.50 to $91.

The signing came after the union's international had approved the terms. The agreement is not subject to ratification by the union's membership.

In the past, the first contract to be signed in the system has set the pattern for other subsidiary companies of American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the parent firm.

Gas Rate Hike Turned Down

Councilmen Reject Compromise Offer

Five of the seven Council members served notice Monday night that they are in favor of rejecting a compromise offer submitted April 23 by the Ohio Valley Gas Co. asking an overall 10.6 per cent rate boost in East Liverpool.

The comments were made by Councilmen George E. Willshaw, Frank Duffy, Floyd Murray, Kenneth C. Berg and Edward Massey. Councilmen Robert W. Sample Jr. and S. James Welch made no comment.

The company resumed negotiations with Council late in April after a break since last fall. It first applied for a rate increase in June 1961. The company's original proposal called for a boost of 20½ per cent.

"Sometime ago we met with the gas company representatives on a request for a rate increase," Willshaw said. "They asked for an answer. My position is that I'm not in favor of granting an increase.

"I don't think I'm a rate expert or qualified to determine what rate the company is entitled to," Willshaw continued. "It seemed high to me."

Murray said he also is opposed to a rate hike. He suggested that Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper "fight the proposal in conjunction with the rest of the Ohio Valley cities."

Berg said he concurs and added: "We're not rate experts. I don't think we're qualified to decide this question." Massey agreeing with the other members, added: "It's been kicked around a good bit. I'm not in favor of an increase. The valley cities are standing as one against an increase."

"Big Steel had to hold the line, why shouldn't the utilities?" Duffy said.

VIENNA (AP)— Austrian police are investigating the mysterious death of a former officer of the Hungarian political police who fled to Austria last month.

Probe Of Crash Continues

Reports Hint Pilot Tried To Halt Plane's Takeoff

PARIS (AP)—Evidence mounted today that the pilot of the charted jetliner that crashed with the loss of 130 lives made a desperate attempt to halt his takeoff.

The four-engine, Air France Boeing 707 jet rose only a few feet before plunging to earth, smashing through a fence and exploding into flames at Orly Airport Sunday. All 121 American passengers, including many Atlanta cultural leaders, eight crewmen and Air France's Atlanta agent were killed.

The investigation of the crash may not be completed for six months, but there were a number of indications that Capt. Roland Hoche, one of Air France's most experienced pilots, was aware of impending disaster and frantically tried to halt the huge craft.

Pierre Loiseau, a radio operator at the Orly control tower, said he saw smoke coming from the big jet's wheels, indicating that the pilot slammed on the brakes as the plane approached its normal takeoff point. Loiseau said the plane swayed from side to side as though the pilot was maneuvering in an effort to cut speed.

Skid marks on the runway indicated the pilot had his brakes on for about 500 yards.

Investigators reportedly found the plane's throttle levers in the reverse position, another indication that the pilot tried vainly to halt the jet.

Revolt Beaten In Venezuela; 135 Left Dead

Top Red Arrested, But Released Due To His Immunity

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — President Romulo Betancourt's government arrested Venezuela's top Red Monday night after crushing remnants of a bloody, Communist-backed revolt, then had to release him because of his parliamentary immunity.

Authorities said 135 persons were killed in the rebellion led by marines garrisoned at Puerto Cabello, 65 miles west of Caracas. Unofficial estimates went as high as more than 200 killed and 1,000 wounded.

Authorities arrested Gustavo Machado, secretary-general of Venezuela's Communist party and member of the Chamber of Deputies as he returned by plane from a 30-day trip to Moscow.

Officials had hoped to hold Machado because the constitution specifies a deputy loses immunity after 20 days absence without leave.

'Economy' Committee To Convene Friday

Councilman Frank Duffy announced Monday night his special committee studying economy in city government, particularly suggestions for elimination of jobs, will hold its third meeting Friday night at 7.

Duffy urged city department heads and the general public to attend. However, he said he has not issued written invitations to the department heads, as he indicated he would do at the committee's last meeting on May 11.

The committee held its first meeting on April 13. To date, it has decided tentatively on elimination of one job. Duffy and Councilman Floyd Murray are the Democratic members of the committee. Other members are Councilmen Robert W. Sample Jr., S. James Welch and George E. Willshaw, Republicans.

5 States Go To Polls

Nixon's Favorite In Governor Bid

By The Associated Press

Five states hold primary elections today to determine party nominees for state and national offices. Most of the attention centers on California where former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is bidding for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

In addition to California, primaries are being held in South Dakota, Idaho, Montana and Mississippi. The Connecticut state Republican Convention also nominates its gubernatorial and senatorial candidates today.

In a light turnout Monday, Republican voters in Iowa nominated Gov. Norman Erbe for a second term and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper for a fourth term. Neither race was close.

Iowa Democrats chose Harold E. Hughes, State Commerce Commission chairman, to oppose Erbe in November. E. B. Smith, Iowa State University professor, was unopposed for the job of contesting Hickenlooper.

Nixon won in his home state of California even while losing the 1960 presidential election. He is favored to win today.

But State Rep. Joseph Shell, a staunch conservative, claimed Monday night he would win, and observers believe he has picked up ground with a hard-hitting campaign in recent weeks.

Shell has questioned whether Nixon can carry the Republicans to victory in November over Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who is expected to win a second-term nomination without trouble.

Almost from the September day that Nixon announced his candidacy for the governorship, the militantly conservative John Birch Society has been an issue in the campaign.

Rollicking Graduation Ceremony

Bob Hope Gets Honorary Degree At Georgetown U.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Hope, in cap and gown and smiling as slyly as a gate-crasher, swished grandly into Georgetown University's commencement exercises and remarked:

"I feel as out of place as President Kennedy at a meeting of the American Medical Association."

Thus, on the tree-shaded greensward of Georgetown, rapid Robert Hope — whose education was "straight from high school to dancing school and vaudeville"— became a honorary doctor of humane letters Monday.

It was one of the most rollicking graduation ceremonies in memory.

The principal speaker, the Rev. Gustave Weigel, said "a commencement is hardly a hushed gathering around a dying friend."

Hope proved it. When he received the Latin citation of his degree, he quipped: "I can't wait until I get home and have my son read it to me." Roman Catholic Hope said of the Catholic University, "My getting a degree from Georgetown is the end, but then you do specialize in miracles, don't you?"

He called out to his son, Anthony, who was among the 1,066 receiving degrees: "Slump down, you make me feel like Alan Ladd."

As he posed for photographs in his gown, the comedian cracked, "This'll be a shock to some of the educators in Cleveland." That is where he went to school.

Pay Tax Cuts Will Be Asked By President

Dillon Discloses Administration's Proposal For 1963

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon says the administration will propose a top-to-bottom reduction in income tax rates for enactment by Congress next year.

He told the New York Financial Writers Association at a dinner Monday night that the proposal will be part of "a fundamental restructuring of our income tax system, designed to promote the maximum long-term economic growth."

The cuts would be coupled with revenue-raising proposals to offset the resulting loss of government revenue "in whole or in part," Dillon said.

He said no decision has been made on how far to go in offsetting the lower tax rates by broadening the base of the tax structure and closing loopholes.

Dillon's statement was viewed as the most forceful declaration to date of the administration's tax plans for next year.

The tax plans of which he spoke would be part of the income tax reform bill the administration long has planned to hand Congress before it adjourns, with an eye towards legislative action early next year.

Dillon said he welcomes growing talk of a tax cut but not as "a hasty, ill-considered reaction to the gyrations of the stock market."

He spoke of the dramatic price drop of May 28 as one in which "all vestiges of reason were temporarily pushed aside, and panic took control of the great New York Stock Exchange."

Dillon said he sees no economic factors underlying the market's performance. Rather, he said, the slump reflects a realization that inflation has been brought under control.

In addition to California, primaries are being held in South Dakota, Idaho, Montana and Mississippi. The Connecticut state Republican Convention also nominates its gubernatorial and senatorial candidates today.

In a light turnout Monday, Republican voters in Iowa nominated Gov. Norman Erbe for a second term and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper for a fourth term. Neither race was close.

Iowa Democrats chose Harold E. Hughes, State Commerce Commission chairman, to oppose Erbe in November. E. B. Smith, Iowa State University professor, was unopposed for the job of contesting Hickenlooper.

Nixon won in his home state of California even while losing the 1960 presidential election. He is favored to win today.

But State Rep. Joseph Shell, a staunch conservative, claimed Monday night he would win, and observers believe he has picked up ground with a hard-hitting campaign in recent weeks.

Shell has questioned whether Nixon can carry the Republicans to victory in November over Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who is expected to win a second-term nomination without trouble.

Almost from the September day that Nixon announced his candidacy for the governorship, the militantly conservative John Birch Society has been an issue in the campaign.

Rollicking Graduation Ceremony

Bob Hope Gets Honorary Degree At Georgetown U.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Hope, in cap and gown and smiling as slyly as a gate-crasher, swished grandly into Georgetown University's commencement exercises and remarked:

"I feel as out of place as President Kennedy at a meeting of the American Medical Association."

Thus, on the tree-shaded greensward of Georgetown, rapid Robert Hope — whose education was "straight from high school to dancing school and vaudeville"— became a honorary doctor of humane letters Monday.

It was one of the most rollicking graduation ceremonies in memory.

The principal speaker, the Rev. Gustave Weigel, said "a commencement is hardly a hushed gathering around a dying friend."

Hope proved it. When he received the Latin citation of his degree, he quipped: "I can't wait until I get home and have my son read it to me." Roman Catholic Hope said of the Catholic University, "My getting a degree from Georgetown is the end, but then you do specialize in miracles, don't you?"

He called out to his son, Anthony, who was among the 1,066 receiving degrees: "Slump down, you make me feel like Alan Ladd."

As he posed for photographs in his gown, the comedian cracked, "This'll be a shock to some of the educators in Cleveland." That is where he went to school.

Pay Tax Cuts Will Be Asked By President

Dillon Discloses Administration's Proposal For 1963

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon says the administration will propose a top-to-bottom reduction in income tax rates for enactment by Congress next year.

He told the New York Financial Writers Association at a dinner Monday night that the proposal will be part of "a fundamental restructuring of our income tax system, designed to promote the maximum long-term economic growth."

The cuts would be coupled with revenue-raising proposals to offset the resulting loss of government revenue "in whole or in part," Dillon said.

He said no decision has been made on how far to go in offsetting the lower tax rates by broadening the base of the tax structure and closing loopholes.

Dillon's statement was viewed as the most forceful declaration to date of the administration's tax plans for next year.

The tax plans of which he spoke would be part of the income tax reform bill the administration long has planned to hand Congress before it adjourns, with an eye towards legislative action early next year.

Dillon said he welcomes growing talk of a tax cut but not as "a hasty, ill-considered reaction to the gyrations of the stock market."

He spoke of the dramatic price drop of May 28 as one in which "all vestiges of reason were temporarily pushed aside, and panic took control of the great New York Stock Exchange."

Dillon said he sees no economic factors underlying the market's performance. Rather, he said, the slump reflects a realization that inflation has been brought under control.

Council Gets Letter

Columbian Park Hazards Rapped

The Board of Health, in a letter signed by Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, health commissioner, told Council Monday night to abate alleged nuisances arising out of a pond of stagnant water in Columbian Park "or take legal steps at once that will force this issue to a satisfactory conclusion for all time."

The physician's letter was the latest development in a continuing discussion of the alleged nuisance on the East End tract.

"YEAR AFTER year, prodded by the public, out attention is called to the hazardous condition in Columbian Park," Dr. Kuhlman wrote to Council. "We all know that the hazards existing are detrimental to health and an insult to the sensibilities."

He wrote that the Health Board "insists" that Council act promptly on the complaint. The doctor said the pond's nuisances include "frogs, mosquitoes, vegetable matter and the odor of decaying plant life." There also is a danger children may be drowned while at play around the pond, he said. "In the past, we have been very lenient with the owner, Mr. Leland Thompson, whose repeated promises have meant nothing," the doctor wrote.

At its last May meeting, Council had discussed the possibility of referring the complaints to the city Health Board or the State Health Board. However, it finally decided to write a letter to W. Leland Thompson, identified as the owner of the tract.

Council also received a written reply from Thompson. He said oil has been placed on the water-covered area, apparently to hold down the mosquito menace. He said signs were placed in the area to warn that oil had been spread on the water. In conclusion, Thompson said about a third of the water-covered area belongs to another man.

AFTER DR. Kuhlman's letter was read, Councilman Robert W. Sample said the property-owner may not be responsible for flooding of the tract. There formerly was a sewer that drained the park area, but it may have been broken when a big market was built in the area several years ago, Sample said. He suggested a check to find if the line is broken.

"That was 10 years ago," Councilman Floyd Murray replied.

Dr. Kuhlman's letter was received and filed.

In other business, Council enacted three ordinances affecting traffic.

Legislation was approved establishing one-way traffic, south bound only, in Crook Alley between E. 5th and E. 4th Sts. Safety-Service Director Robert Owen told Council the regulation already is in effect on a trial basis and so far there has been only one protest.

Another ordinance was approved accepting a tract of ground from Howard Cecil to provide a turn-around for traffic at the head of Waterloo St. Councilman S. James Welch said the street is narrow and the additional space will allow fire trucks, garbage collection trucks and other vehicles to turn around instead of backing downgrade, as they sometimes have done in the past. The donated ground "will alleviate a bad condition," he said.

A THIRD ordinance will close McKinnon Ave. between Smithfield St. and Fairmont St. to vehicular traffic. The ordinance states specifically that it does not affect the rights of pedestrians or abutting property-owners to access to their properties.

Councilman Kenneth Berg said he is continuing to investigate an alleged smoke nuisance created by an incinerator at the Loblaw, Inc., Market on Bradshaw Ave. He said he visited the Avondale and Bradshaw Ave. and found ashes on porches of the homes.

The market's manager said only large cardboard boxes are burned in the incinerator, Berg said. He pointed out the prior Council received a petition signed by 40 persons, asking elimination of the smoke and ashes. Berg said he is working with the Health Department to arrange a conference with a Loblaw supervisor from Youngstown.

WELCH SAID he is continuing to investigate complaints of a smoke nuisance in the Smithfield St. area allegedly caused by the Jones Dry Cleaning Co. He said he learned the company has not made an investigation yet of the possibility of switching its boilers from coal to gas as fuel.

Councilman Edward Massey asked the street committee to investigate guardrails on the Lisbon St. Hill. He said the rails are at least 30 years old and in "deplorable condition." Massey said he also received a request for installation of a guardrail on Dresden Ave. on a curve at the Gourley property.

He asked the street committee to investigate the possibility of establishing one-way traffic on Division St. The unsurfaced street is difficult to maintain because of a steep grade, but allowing downbound traffic only might eliminate some of the trouble caused by skidding auto wheels, he said.

COUNCILMAN George E. Willshaw said the finance committee is studying a request for an additional appropriation for the Civil Service Commission. He recommended a $200 transfer of funds to pay the city's 1962 dues in the Ohio Municipal League.

Willshaw said the finance committee is continuing an investigation of the possibility of obtaining "blanket" bond coverage for city employes. The committee will obtain estimates from various companies here which furnish bonds for public employes and officials, he said.

Dr. Kuhlman conferred with Council on a request for an additional Health Board appropriation of approximately $206. The fund will be required when a new public health nurse is named by the Health Board to succeed Mrs. Jeannette Carpenter, who plans to retire Aug. 1, Dr. Kuhlman said. The appointee will work with Mrs. Carpenter a month to learn the duties, he said. The Health Board may act on the appointment of Mrs. Carpenter's successor Thursday night, the doctor said.

IN A CAUCUS session, Council decided the city will continue to pay the traditional 2 per cent, plus the cost of intersections, as its share of "major" street improvements. The question was raised by Massey in connection with plans for improvement of Alton, Holland, Hubbard and John Sts.

Council approved a petition for a new street light on McKee St. at Alpine St. Reporting for the claims committee, Massey said it has rejected a bill against the city from Charles Gerace of Gilson Ave., who said his cellar was damaged when a sewer backed up.

Berg, reporting for the street committee, recommended installation of a street light on Sutton Alley at John St. and another on Brightview Dr. Murray asked the committee to investigate a ditch on Andrews Ave. between Holliday and Etruria Sts. Councilman Frank Duffy asked investigation of a ditch on Cleveland Ave.

The meeting opened with invocation by the Rev. Charles W. Kampmeyer of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Smith's body was taken to his home in Columbus.

The patrol report said Smith's car crossed the center line and crashed with the truck shortly after midnight on Georgia 85.

The 60-year-old Republican candidate was dead on arrival at the Meriwether Hospital in Warm Springs.

Mrs. Smith's condition was listed as satisfactory.

Lone City Crash Damages 2 Cars

Two autos were damaged in a collision Monday at 6:58 p. m. at Park Blvd. and St. Clair Ave., but no one was injured, police reported. It was the only traffic mishap reported overnight in East Liverpool.

The crash involved a 1959 four-door sedan operated by Herbert Smith, 45, of 1410 Etruria St. and a 1957 auto driven by Dale Fiedler of R. D. 2, officers said. There was damage to the left front door of Smith's car and the right side of Fiedler's auto was scraped, police siad.

Smith told police he was driving south of St. Clair and starting a left turn onto Park Blvd. when Fiedler, starting to pass, struck his car. Fiedler agreed with Smith's statement, adding he attempted to stop, but could not, officers said.

Council Votes $15,000 Fund For Sweeper

Council approved legislation unanimously Monday night authorizing a $15,000 bond issue to enable the administration to purchase a new mechanical street sweeper, replacing a worn - out 1954 model.

A companion piece of legislation authorizes Safety - Service Director Robert Owen to advertise for bids on a sweeper. Suppliers may bid on a "no trade" price or submit offers allowing the city a trade-in on its present sweeper, the legislation provides. The legislation also was passed unanimously.

Prior to the meeting, Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper advised Council the entire $15,000 may not be required for the sweeper purchase. In that event, bonds will be issued only for the total required, not the entire $15,000 provided for in the ordinance, he said.

The ordinance provides the bonds will be retired in equal annual installments from 1964 to 1968, inclusive. As is the case in all such issues, the city first will issue one-year notes to complete the purchase, then sell bonds to retire the notes.

The city's present sweeper was purchased in the administration of former Mayor E. Allan McKeever. The street department has not followed a regular street - sweeping schedule for months because of frequent breakdowns in the machinery. Several suppliers have demonstrated sweepers to city officials in recent weeks.

LET'S GO CAMPING!

As the final bell marks the end of another school year, families all over America are saying, "Let's go camping!"

This year a record number of folks will pile sleeping bags and cooking pots in the family car for a vacation under canvas in our woods and open spaces.

If you're lucky enough to find a spot in a regular campground, ordinary precautions with fires will do. But thousands of families will have to set up camp in undeveloped areas.

If you are one of these families, SMOKEY asks you to follow these rules to prevent forest fires:

1. Locate your fireplace in a circle of bare earth. Build up rocks or dig a shallow hole to enclose your fire.
2. Keep your fire small—and put it dead out when you leave.
3. Fill campstoves and lanterns in an area cleared to bare earth.
4. Soak used charcoal with water and bury in cool damp earth.
5. Sit down to smoke—clear a place for hot ashes, matches, and cigarette stubs.

Bills Delayed By Split Votes After Debate

cases where a sewer is "available" to a home or business place, but is not used.

Massey said he is in favor of an ordinance to compel properties to be connected to a sewer, where one is available, rather than the measure that would impose a charge whether or not the service is used.

"This is the most ridiculous legislation ever offered," Duffy commented. "All the (utilities) board wants is to make them help pay for the sewer plant. Septic tanks have been satisfactory for years. This would take the money from the people and put it in there for someone else to go south with."

"I think the utilities board should be discharged," Duffy said. "It's making things tough for the people. I can't see any reason for this. I will vote 'no' all the way. We're driving the people nuts with some of the things we do. I can't see this kind of thing. It's contrary to common sense to charge the people for nothing."

Murray was the next to take the floor.

"If the city gave the people a year or two to hook onto a sewer, it would be better," he said. "Sometimes that's an expensive job. I don't think anyone should pay for something he's not getting."

"I don't agree that the people should pay if they're not connected to a sewer," Massey said. "I asked the solicitor if we have an ordinance requiring people to connect with a sewer where possible. He said he didn't know. If that law exists, then this ordinance isn't necessary."

"I have a cesspool at my home in Pleasant Heights," Massey continued. "It's physically impossible for me to connect to a sewer. I would be tickled to death to have a sewer. I feel if there isn't legislation to require people to hook to a sewer, where available, then it should be passed, not this. The way it is now, it is useless to run trunk line sewers to neighborhoods. It's no use to build sewers if the people won't use them.

"I will vote against charging people for something they don't have, but I would vote for legislation requiring them to hook onto a sewer, where available," Massey concluded.

"We're going around the mulberry bush on this thing — the ordinance spells it right out," Willshaw said. "It requires them to pay if their property is 'capable' of being hooked onto a sewer and is not connected. The charge would be made only if the sewer is available and is not used."

After the ordinance was read, there were more remarks on a motion to suspend the rules and pass the ordinance immediately.

Murray pointed out a case now is in Common Pleas Court, filed by East End residents who have been required to pay a sewage service charge, although the waste from their homes empties directly into the river.

Then the vote was taken on suspension of rules, resulting in the 4-3 split.

Council turned immediately to the second controversial piece of legislation providing for $3,890 to pay off the balance due Tri-State for the 1961 sealcoating project. The same ordinance contains a $1,500 item for sealcoating roads and the parking lot at Thompson Park this season.

After Duffy and Murray voted against consideration of the legislation, Sample declared that "delaying the appropriation will hold up recreation in Thompson Park." Then he pointed out the $3,980 item was for the final payment to Tri-State for the 1961 sealcoat project.

"This isn't holding up recreation," Murray replied. "It's only for roads. As far as this $3,800 item is concerned, it feel it never should be paid. I feel Tri-State never should be awarded a contract here again."

Duffy asserted that the "bleeding" sealcoat on Pennsylvania Ave. "sticks to your shoes and the tires of autos."

"We shouldn't pay the bill until they fix Pennsylvania Ave., Mulberry St. and W. 4th St.," Duffy continued. "They shouldn't get another contract until they fix those streets properly. There's something wrong when this company gets the city contracts all the time."

"In reply to Mr. Murray, the Park Board requested the $1,500 to repair the roads," Sample said. "If the job isn't done now, it may cost $3,000 later."

"This sealcoat job was contracted for in 1961," Willshaw said. "By appropriating the money, we don't know if the director will pay the contractor. But the work has been performed and the city is liable to pay for it."

"Right now, the street is fairly good; it isn't 'bleeding' badly," Murray said. "But the holes in the street need repaired. I think the job should be done right before the city pays for it."

The debate continued after the ordinance was read and the motion was made for immediate passage.

"I want it known by the public that I'm in favor of the park road improvements," Sample said. "The city and the county do the job together."

Murray declared that the appropriation to pay Tri-State and the funds for the park road improvements should not have been linked together in a single ordinance. To vote against one item, a councilmen was required to vote against the entire ordinance, he pointed out.

"This is twice the ordinance committee has brought things in like this," he said. "I'm not opposed to the park road improvements. I think the two items should be presented separately."

Duffy concurred with Murray on presenting the items separately.

"You're going to pay the $3,980 whether you like it or not," Sample said. "We didn't make this contract. It was signed last year."

"Why are we going to pay?" Murray asked. "I think the city should take these people to court."

"The former Council set up the money to pay the bill," Massey said. "The director and the mayor decided the job was inadequate, so this amount was withheld. Now it's necessary for Council to appropriate the money. That doesn't mean the administration will pay the bill until it's satisfied with the work."

"You're not aware of how good a job you got," Safety - Service Director Robert Owen told the dissenters. "All the work was done to state specifications — the best quality merchandise available. I'm not saying how it turned out, but it wasn't because it was a cheap job."

"That looks good on paper, but look at the shape the street is in," Murray replied.

"The opinion of most people is that we paid for a good job and got a cheap one," Duffy said.

"Do you think we got a good job," Murray asked Owen.

"No, sir," Owen replied.

Then the motion to suspend the rules for immediate passage was put to a vote, but it failed 5-2.

Earlier, Kenneth Nichols of Hill Blvd. appeared personally before Council to protest the fact his bid and another offer on blacktopping of the Ceramic Theater parking lot were rejected by the mayor and the director, which let the contract to Tri-State.

"Since two of the bids were rejected, why didn't you advertise again?" he asked. "I think it was pretty sneaky. I checked with several other companies in the business and they never heard of the requirement for breaking down the cost of labor and material."

When offers were opened by the Board of Control, Tri-State's representative protested that state law requires labor and material items to be listed separately. The mayor and the director asked the opinion of Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, who cited state law and said Tri-State's protest was correct.

"As far as I'm concerned, there was nothing sneaky," Owen told Nichols. "If no protest had been raised, the question never would have come up. But when a protest was raised, we had to refer it to the solicitor, then abide by his ruling. If we had thrown out the bids and readvertised, we would have had to wait and we would have lost $2,000 in revenue from the meters on the lot."

Officer Cites Man In Crash

The State Highway Patrol filed charges today in Municipal Court against a Lisbon area motorist involved in a two-way Glenmoor crash Sunday night that injured three.

A hearing is scheduled June 18 at 9 a. m. for James Raneri, 50, of Lisbon R. D. 2, accused of failure to yield the right-of-way at the intersection of State Route 267 and the Y. & O. Rd.

The patrol said Raneri's auto was involved in a collision with a car operated by Richard T. Vankirk, 22, of 808 Washington St., Wellsville. Raneri is hospitalized as an aftermath of the crash. His wife, Mrs. Louise Raneri, and Vankirk, were released following treatment.

Three motorists were fined today in appearances before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Ira B. White, 205 Beechwood St., was fined $10 and costs on a patrol charge of crossing over a double yellow line on Route 30 Sunday at 11:15 a. m.

Questioned by the court, White admitted he was "surprised" when he started to pass two autos illegally and found one was a patrol car. The judge warned White his operator's license will be suspended if he is cited for another violation.

Billy D. Allen of R. D. 2 was fined $5 and costs on a charge he failed to halt for a stop sign at the intersection of State Route 170 and County Rd. 428. He was cited by the patrol Saturday at 8:10 a. m.

The judge imposed a fine of $25 and costs today on Troxel Groves, 724 Green Ln., who had pleaded guilty May 28 on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Groves' case had been continued to permit him to arrange payment of damage to the other auto, operated by Otis Blankenship, 510 Walnut St. Groves told the court this morning he has arranged to pay for the damage.

Charles Hendershot, minister of the Bradshaw Ave. Church of Christ, will officiate. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

Survivors include a brother, Matthew Weser of Vienna, W. Va., and a sister, Mrs. Theresa Anderson of Elizabeth, W. Va.

New Chaplain Presented

30 Attend Joint Meeting Held By District Pastors

About 30 attended a joint luncheon meeting of the East Liverpool, Chester-Newell and Wellsville Ministerial Associations Monday noon at the Travelers Hotel when the Rev. Joseph Varner, a retired United Presbyterian minister, was presented as the new chaplain of City Hospital.

The program included talks by Miss Nell Robinson, City Hospital supervisor, and the Rev. James Hunton of the First Church of the Nazarene.

Frank L. Maus, director of management training for the Weirton Steel Co., was to have been guest speaker but was unable to attend.

Miss Robinson spoke on the nurses' training program at the hospital. Rev. Hunton spoke of the minister as a prohet, priest and shepherd.

Miss Robinson said there are not enough enrolled in the City Hospital School of Nursing at the present time to conduct an efficient class.

She asked the ministers to appeal to the young women of their churches and offer them the challenge of joining the nursing profession. Mis Robinson was accompanied by Miss Ethelyn Exley, instructor of nurses.

The Rev. Carl Beighley, a former vice president of the East Liverpool Association, and the Rev. James Gardner, a past president, were presented gifts. They are leaving the community.

John N. Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ and president of the local association, presided.

Rev. Beighley gave the closing prayer.

Preceding the joint meeting, each association held a separate business meeting.

Fourteen members and two guests attend the East Liverpool session. W. Earl Shaw, minister of the Second Church of Christ in East End, was received as a new member.

The Rev. Jay Hunton, son of Rev. Hunton, was introduced. He has been called to serve at Pittsfield, Me.

A questionnaire was circulated to determine how many members are interested in a Blue Cross group hospitalization plan. The civic affairs committee, appointed in April, was dissolved.

A committee will be appointed in the near future to assemble information regarding the city churches such as location and time of services for distribution in the Welcome Wagon program.

Mostoller presided.

The Wellsville Association voted to discontinue meetings during the summer months.

The Executive Board will meet Saturday, Sept. 1, with a regular membership meeting scheduled for Monday, Sept. 3. The winter program will be outlined at this time.

The Rev. Arden Beck, president, conducted business.

The Chester Association made plans to elect laymen to serve on a committee to work in opposition to the liquor-by-the-drink amendment at the November election.

Plans were completed to participate in the Chester High School baccalaureate service Sunday night at 8 at the high school auditorium. The Rev. C. Donald Vogel of the First United Presbyterian Church will speak.

No further meetings will be held until October unless an emergency arises. The Rev. E. D. Gleaton of the First Christian Church, president, presided. The Rev. Charles Haddock of the Newell Presbyterian Church met with the group.

Officer Cites Man In Crash

The State Highway Patrol filed charges today in Municipal Court against a Lisbon area motorist involved in a two-way Glenmoor crash Sunday night that injured three.

A hearing is scheduled June 18 at 9 a. m. for James Raneri, 50, of Lisbon R. D. 2, accused of failure to yield the right-of-way at the intersection of State Route 267 and the Y. & O. Rd.

The patrol said Raneri's auto was involved in a collision with a car operated by Richard T. Vankirk, 22, of 808 Washington St., Wellsville. Raneri is hospitalized as an aftermath of the crash. His wife, Mrs. Louise Raneri, and Vankirk, were released following treatment.

Three motorists were fined today in appearances before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Ira B. White, 205 Beechwood St., was fined $10 and costs on a patrol charge of crossing over a double yellow line on Route 30 Sunday at 11:15 a. m.

Questioned by the court, White admitted he was "surprised" when he started to pass two autos illegally and found one was a patrol car. The judge warned White his operator's license will be suspended if he is cited for another violation.

Billy D. Allen of R. D. 2 was fined $5 and costs on a charge he failed to halt for a stop sign at the intersection of State Route 170 and County Rd. 428. He was cited by the patrol Saturday at 8:10 a. m.

The judge imposed a fine of $25 and costs today on Troxel Groves, 724 Green Ln., who had pleaded guilty May 28 on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Groves' case had been continued to permit him to arrange payment of damage to the other auto, operated by Otis Blankenship, 510 Walnut St. Groves told the court this morning he has arranged to pay for the damage.

$559 In MS Drive

EAST PALESTINE — A total of $559 was collected for the Multiple Sclerosis Fund in a drive held Monday night by some 60 volunteer workers here and at New Waterford. A soliciation of the Rogers and Negley areas will be conducted today in the drive, sponsored by the Junior Women's Club.

Soldier Fined For Collisions

Pfc. Robert H. Anderson, 24, of Ft. Lee, Va., resident of Avella, Pa., was fined a total of $75 and costs on two traffic violations at a hearing Monday before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville.

Anderson was fined $50 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident and $25 and costs for reckless operation.

He was cited late Sunday night after fleeing on foot from an accident early Sunday morning in which the car he was driving and two parked autos were demolished on Main St. below 9th St.

Anderson went to a nearby home which he entered and spent the day and part of the night sleeping. The family was not home at the time.

He said he "blacked out" and didn't remember anything from Sunday about 1 a. m. when he was about three miles from Avella.

He was driving a car owned by Pauline Forrester of Colliers, W. Va. The parked cars are owned by Robert L. Williams, 925½ Main St., Wellsville, and Carl L. Lowary of Elkhart, Ind.

Bobby Hull of Chicago and Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers scored 84 points in the National Hockey League last season. Hull tallied 50 goals and 34 assists, Bathgate 28 goals and 56 assists.

'This Hurts Us More Than You'

Inflation has crept into the economy. Wages have outstripped production. Price increases have become necessary to provide more investment funds for modernizing equipment.

The words, translated and paraphrased, came from Nikita Khrushchev. Amusingly, the economy they describe is not a decadent capitalist one but his own.

He used the phrases to explain why meat and butter prices have been jacked up 25 to 30 per cent. Farmers must mechanize more of their operations if they are to succeed in meeting minimum consumer demand, not to mention meeting Khrushchev's goal of surpassing U.S. farm production. Obviously the funds for mechanization could not come from the defense budget, so the consumers must contribute from their paychecks.

Whether the price increases will accomplish their purpose seems doubtful. One of the pitfalls, for instance, lies in the fact few Russian workers can afford to maintain their consumption of meat and butter at old levels, which were low.

The failure of communist farm programs to achieve their goals has been as scandalous as ours, the difference being that ours is a scandal of abundance and theirs is a scandal of scarcity. In either case, blame properly belongs to politicians out of touch with the realities of human nature.

In this regard, Khrushchev's most laughable comment on the situation came in his assessment of the price hike's effect on the people.

"I wouldn't say this is pleasant for the people," he said, "but the people understand this is far more unpleasant for the Central Committee of the Communist party and for the government."

This sounds mighty like the crutch traditionally used by U.S. politicians when they are about to levy new or expanded taxes.

"Nobody likes taxes," they say, "and this hurts us more than (or as much as) it hurts the taxpayers."

The existence of an element of truth in both the Russian and American versions does not alter the fact the people seldom are convinced.

The frightening aspect of these weird parallels between the Soviet and U.S. economies is that we don't know whether to rejoice or regret. Do they mean the Communists are passing where we already have been, or that we are heading in their direction?

Worst Of The Air Disasters

The French will be as thorough in their investigation of the "worst air disaster" as our own investigators would be under similar circumstances.

It is not just the numerical total of 130 lives lost that makes the takeoff crash of a Boeing 707 jet from Paris last Sunday the "worst." It is the fact the victims were Americans starting a journey home to Atlanta at the end of a three-week tour. They were guests of France.

The plane was chartered to Air France, a flag-line organization. The crew contained Frenchmen. The crash was at a French airport. French pride has been hurt. The pride of the plane's manufacturers has been hurt. Boeing, like all other plane manufacturers, has reliability of performance for sale; that is the airplane industry's most valuable stock in trade.

What will the investigators find?

It will be in all probability, evidence of some unique circumstance—something that could not have been foreseen, something that will not be permitted to occur again after it has been revealed.

Aviation has been made almost fool-proof. It is the safest way to cover distance because it is the quickest way to get there and back.

Every accident has made it safer, because every accident reveals something that hadn't been known before. Aviation is as safe as human intelligence can make it. It has been approaching the ultimate state of all the safety attainable year by year and may already have reached it.

Each fatal accident is both a setback to confidence and a boost, because each accident reveals something useful for increasing safety. When the investigators have reconstructed the circumstances of the tragedy at Orly Field in France last Sunday aviation will be a little safer than it was before.

Misquotation Was Possible

We hope there were serious omissions in an Associated Press report of a commencement address by Mrs. Eunice K. Shriver at the University of Santa Clara.

If the story was laid down in a correct version, the sister of President Kennedy and the wife of R. Sargent Shriver, Jr., director of the Peace Corps, is advocating service in a domestic Peace Corps for one and all.

This would go on for two years. Volunteers would offer their services for work in public schools, welfare agencies, courts and recreation departments, according to the AP version of Mrs. Shriver's commencement address.

We do hope the version is incorrect.

Nobody wants to believe members of the Kennedy family have blind spots where money is concerned. Everybody wants to believe, regardless of partisan politics, that the President and his brothers and sisters have not been misled by the fact they never lacked anything because of a shortage of funds.

We want to think they lean over backward, or crank their cash registers backward, to avoid giving offense to people who must work to eat.

We want to think Mrs. Shriver was misquoted when she said something that sounded as if she thought the rest of us had the option of passing up the rat race for a couple of years while we put in some good licks in a domestic Peace Corps.

Even with federal subsistence pay we couldn't make it, Mrs. Shriver—not and come up to our obligations as taxpaying patriots of a nation that is spending no less than $30 million of our money this year on the other Peace Corps—the one that spends our money elsewhere.

Losing The Game And The Candle

Secret Army terrorists in Algeria apparently are the latest well-publicized group to learn that the end does not justify the means. The game isn't worth the candle if both it and the candle are lost.

In their case, the means they employed was terror to thwart independent status for Algeria. But the terror backfired.

It convinced the Europeans in Algeria they could expect no security in a place where terror had become a way of life. Instead of thinking of the Secret Army as a means of thwarting independent status for Algeria, they began to think of it as the source of insecurity.

Realizing that the Algerian Moslems who had been the Secret Army's victims would seek revenge once they had been given authority, the Algerians who had the option of leaving for Europe departed in drives. The Secret Army had proved its point at the expense of the wrong people.

Now it is trying to prove another point—that it can turn off terror at will. At the end of last week it was reported to be dickering for a truce with the Moslems, based on a three-day "peace demonstration." It had turned off its own terror for three days.

The purpose was to prove to Algerians who already had fled to Europe and to others preparing to leave that security in Algeria depends on the terrorists, not on the French government. That has been self-evident for a long time.

Equally self-evident, however, is the ability of the terrorists to destroy security. It is like the scene in the old-fashioned melodrama when the villain, after having tried to burn down the poor widow's house and force her to accept his unwelcome advances, turns sweet and asks, "Why do you fear me, Nellie?"

Quit Lifting Us!

By Truman Twill

Some people have taken it on themselves to snoot those of us who spend too much time gawking at our gawk boxes. They regard us as a depraved lot who should be improving our minds.

These are the same people who have taken it on themselves to demand that people who run television should gussie it up with highbrow stuff that would improve our minds in spite of ourselves and make sneering references to our lack of taste.

It's only once in a Republican administration any more that anyone speaks up for the ordinary people, so flip your switches, Mr. Minow and uplifters one and all. Why don't you let us alone?

If we stare at television too much and if what we stare at makes your nose wrinkle, it's because no one is chartering a bus to take us to the beach. It's because we have nothing else to do. We're grateful for this much.

Remembering how things used to be when people sat around and hated one another in unrelieved boredom, remembering how shutins, the old, the ill and the never-privileged once withered up from the searing nothingness that cooked the juice out of their humdrum lives, we fall on our knees and thank New York and Hollywood, depending on which is closer.

We keep track of pap about things we might be doing to improve our minds and we even take a crack at mind-improving programs squeezed into TV time to appease the wolves. And we always reach the same conclusion:

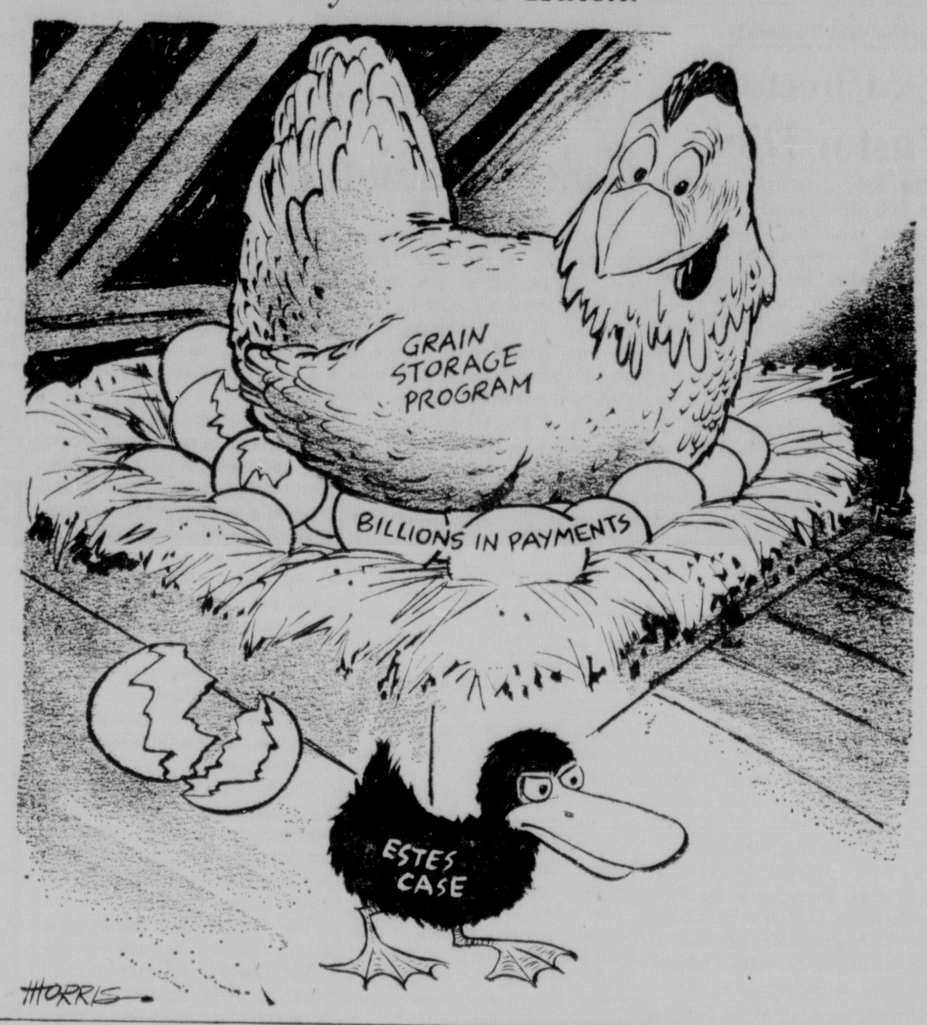
They must have been thinking about somebody else's mind.

We think television is entertainment first of all and anything that muscles in on the entertainment angle had better be so good nobody will yawn and ask, "So what?" Because there won't be any answer.

We ourselves are rudimentary drivelers. We pretend to be nothing else. We never have crooked a finger or broadened an A. Self-improvement at our age makes no more sense than schemes for buying foreign friends with our tax dollars. That's typical of the way the people think who are everlastingly yakking about lifting our minds. They're always wanting to lift something.

What they lift is our right rear leg, the one we kick with when we get up off all fours. There's this twitching, see, an urge to kick somebody's fundament right up behind the bridge of his uplifted nose. Let's face it. We commoners don't want to be lifted.

Any More To Hatch?



Labor Watches The Market, Too

By Victor Riesel

Some of the bankers at numbers 23 and 44 Wall Street have been telephoned regularly by the "inner" White House. There have been queries about business' pique at the Kennedy administration — and why not nudge a few in financial circles and industrial sanctums into smoothing out matters.

Victor Riesel

Phone calls also have gone the other way. From, for example, the National Association of Manufacturers via proper channels requesting a conference with President Kennedy to talk things over.

All this has been observed by a third force whose leaders got blue in the face, like all of us, when Wall Street's blue chips took a drive for the canvas.

That third force which has a mighty investment stake on "The Street" is labor. It's people have a sharp interest in some 21 billion dollars worth of common stock.

Not generally known, this. But here's where all the money and investments come from: There now is at least 60 billion dollars in private (nongovernmental) pension fund assets.

ACTUALLY no one really knows exactly how many billions there are in these retirement caches. The Labor Department has been counting for months. They have about 160,000 pension systems on file. And they don't really know how many have not yet bothered to report.

From all the official briefings I've had, I gather there will be about $100 billion in these pension pools by the early '70s.

That's more money than Billie Sol Estes had fertilizer. But this figure is a scientific forecast by the nation's best informed pension experts.

Some of these pension funds cover union and nonunion workers and are run directly by corporations through banks.

Some—totalling high in the billions of dollars—are administered by joint labor-management trustees.

Some operate through insurance companies. Some operate on their own as "self-insured" projects.

THESE FUNDS must not be confused with the billions of dollars in the general assets and monies of union treasuries. The billions referred to here on the pension funds alone.

The unions rarely put their multi-million dollar treasuries and strike funds into common stock. They go mostly for government securities. These can be converted into liquid cash in a hurry—to pay out strike benefits, for example.

But the pension funds, with labor's approval, have gone heavily into the "market." Last year these labor-management funds bought slightly more than $2 billion worth of blue chip stock. This was more than any other group in the United States spent for common shares. This $2 billion came to fully 40 per cent of the total amount of new shares put on the market in 1961.

So all private pension funds now hold well over 21 billion dollars worth of common stock, in all, for they have been buying for years.

THESE PURCHASES have been so heavy that one union has long been thinking of buying a seat on the Stock Exchange itself.

But there's more. These pension funds also buy heavily into corporate bonds. Last year these funds, again with the approval of the labor trustees whenever they sat on the joint boards, bought more than a billion dollars worth of the best corporate bonds. This was second only to what the life insurance business bought.

Specifically how much of this type of corporate securities the pension funds hold, has not been fully reckoned. But there is a guide.

Back in 1960, those labor-management funds which set up their own private pension systems, already owned $13 billion dollars worth. This is only a small part of the pension business. So the figure, when finally set, will go higher than Carpenter and Glenn.

That's why, in addition to the White House and the banking houses, the "House of Labor" also watched the "market" closely last week. Lots of people on lots of sides are in this together.

Caviar Is Scarce

By Mark Frankland

One of the strange ideas that many foreigners have about Russia is that vodka and caviar are to its inhabitants what beer and hot dogs are to Americans.

Vodka is still undoubtedly the Russians' favorite strong drink in spite of its being under something of an official cloud. Its price has been sharply increased (foreign residents in Moscow find it cheaper to import their Russian vodka from Copenhagen or Helsinki than to buy it in Moscow), and theoretically there is a limit of 100 grams, or two small glasses, a head on vodka consumption in restaurants.

It is quite possible to stay in the Soviet Union for two or three months and still think that there is plenty of caviar. The sort of hotels a foreigner stays in and the sort of restaurants he eats in can usually provide him with caviar every day of the week.

BY COMPARISON with the price overseas it is cheap. Fifty grams of best black caviar — enough to cover thickly one large slive of toast — cost about $1.70.

The same amount of red caviar, which comes from various kinds of Siberian salmon, costs about 70 cents. Some Russians prefer it to the black because of its stronger taste. It is sometimes eaten mixed with sour cream.

Apart from the good restaurants, however, caviar, black or red, is hard to come by, even in the comparatively well-stocked Moscow food stores. I tried to buy some caviar in the capital's best shop, Gastromom No. 1. This shop is still sometimes called by the name of its former owner, Eliseyevsky but for all its old-fashioned chandelier and luch baroque decor, Eliseyevsky's could not let me have any caviar of any kind.

The explanation seems to be the caviar is an important foreign currency earner. The latest export figures are 192 tons in 1958, 234 tons in 1959 and 199 tons in 1960. In spite of the dip in 1960 exports, very likely due to natural causes, a constant rise in the price of caviar has meant a steady increase in the amount of foreign currency.

The current seven year plan included several measures designed to increase the production of both black and red caviar.

Black caviar comes from the Volga-Caspian basin, which provides the two-thirds of the world's total production. In recent years the natural reproduction of the caviar-producing sturgeon has been damaged by contamination of the waters of the lower Volga and neighboring rivers by industrial waste matter and impurities, and also by a disastrous fall in the water level of the Caspian sea itself.

The process of artifically breeding sturgeon has only recently been mastered successfully, but some factories now in existence already have plans for "harvesting" the young sturgeon twice a year. The little fish born and then released from these factories into seven foot monsters weig grow into seven foot monsters weighing around 300 pounds.

THE PLANS for increasing red caviar production are even more dramatic. Ten years ago the salmon were mainly caught in the Pacific off the coast of Siberia. A variety of causes, including Japanese fishing fleets, led a few years ago to a "salmon airlift" from the Pacific to the Atlantic. Fifty-five million salmon eggs we flown from Vladivostok to Murmansk, a port on the Barets sea coust.

Presidential Image

By David Lawrence

Canceled Papers Raise A Question

What kind of "image" do the people have of a president of the United States" Do they think of him as an ordinary mortal who reveals his annoyances and exuberances the same way that the average man does in everyday life? Do they think of him as a man of dignity, calmness, and bad temper or irascible outbursts, but the kind who, while at times inwardly pained, nevertheless exhibits outwardly the tolerance which a leader of the people is expected always to maintain?

David Lawrence

These questions come to mind when one reads that President Kennedy the other day ordered 22 subscriptions to the New York Herald Tribune canceled, thus notifying his entire staff not to read one of the principal newspapers of the country that presents the other side as well as the administration's side.

One of the aides of Mr. Kennedy has the constitutional right to read what he pleases. This is reminiscent of a cartoon some years ago in "The New Yorker" portraying an injured motorist being carried away, and the single caption read: "He had the right of way."

A president can continue to pick and choose what he reads but, if he shuts himself off from criticism, he runs the risk that in this era of polemical politics he will not understand just why public opinion is being turned against him.

If he is interested in reelection —and what president isn't?—the man in the White House will want to watch closely the currents of public opinion day by day so he can the more effectively put his own case before the voters, correcting errors and at the same time countering criticism with new proposals or policies.

IT'S EASY enough to say that there are plenty of other newspapers critical of the administration which Mr. Kennedy could ready to take the place of the one he canceled. But this is not really a persuasive answer to the criticism which now will spread throughout the country.

What will the people think of a president who gives the impression that he cannot tolerate reading the views of those who disagree with him? Is this the kind of image that any man in the White House would really want people to have of their president?

For the people do idealize the office of president. They think of it not merely as a trusteeship in their interest. They have an almost monarchial worship of the highest office in the land. They feel a throb of patriotism when the band plays "Hail to the Chief," and the chairman of a meeting says: "Ladies and Gentlemen, the president of the United States."

He is the people's president—their leader, their choice as a ruler for four years.

Any person can become angry, but a president isn't supposed to do so in public. He's supposed to have the patience of Job and to have the courage to rise above petty annoyances.

He doesn't represent just himself, or his family, or even his party.

He represents the United States of America before the world.

The American people "liked Ike" because he didn't play politics, even though realistically this was a bit of a handicap to him. The public doesn't think of the presidency as a place for a political machine or a Tammany-like boss, even as they see how a political apparatus for vote-getting can be built up by using presidential powers and public funds to that end.

President Eisenhower used to avoid reading a local newspaper, The Washington Post, but neither he nor his staff made a point of it or let it become a national episode.

IT ISN'T always easy for a newspaper or a critic to ignore a president's manifestation of displeasure. The New York Herald Tribune, in a front-page editorial, endeavored to give "the soft answer that turneth away wrath," in the hope that the President would forget his unhappy reaction to certain articles reporting on controversies in the news and on which Mr. Kennedy happens to be politically sensitive.

It is very important for every president to realize that in free America the newspapers do not tell their editors or writers that they must present the news or handle their editions in ways that will please the top man in the government or his staff.

The primary responsibility of a newspaper, moreover, is to its constituency of readers. The people want the story told without regard to whether it politically helps or hurts the administration in power.

It is a mistake for any president to ignore criticism or to brush it aside as mere partisanship or political antagonism. The other side may not be palatable. It may be aggravating. But it is important or a president to read it.

Henry L. Mencken, the brilliant editor and satirist, used to answer biting letters from critics with this single sentence: "you may be right." Indeed, on many points the "other fellow" might be wrong, but on certain points there is always a chance that he may be right.

Letters To The Editor

The 17-year locust or cicada is with us again this year. Another plague, this time local and annual has returned with the warm weather.

The tag sellers range in size and age from men and women "selling" paper flowers to little boys of 9 and 10 wearing baseball uniforms. Despite differences in appearance, all such specimen have one object in mind. They are out to get money for their "cause". Their method is abominable: they beg.

It is appalling when one considers what is happening here. Young people, many just children, are led onto street corners by their supposedly responsible leaders. Armed with a cottage cheese container and a fistful of paper tags, these impressionable youngsters are trained to beg for money. They learn to expect (and too often get!) money, not by earning it through work or charity, but by repeatedly whining "Wanna buy a tag, mister?" to every passerby.

Scarcely a day goes by that someone does not observe that the younger generation is going to heck in a hurry. Saturday tagdays seem to have a higher such incident rate. True or not, I would submit that "tag selling", with the resultant idea that "Ask long enough, and ye shall receive...", aids and abets youth's journey.

While one cannot deny the virtue of little league baseball and aid to disabled veterans, perhaps less offensive fund - raising techniques could be devised. Some organizations sell cookies and cure all salves; others use the less popular and infinitely more exhausting plan of working for money.

Tag days are offensive and embarrassing to many people. It is time they came to an end. Since it seems apparent that any organization can solicit funds on city streets with impuny (not so the individual begger whose non-profit aim also is self - maintenance) there is little chance of action from city authorities.

Action must come from individuals who are accosted in the streets. It is quite easy and much cheaper to refuse to contribute.

I hereby affirm that I am still in favor of such institutions as motherhood, Little League baseball, and high school bands, but I balk at supporting child beggers and their unimaginative leaders. When tag days cease to be profitable, streets can once again be returned to more traditional solicitors.

The failure of communist farm programs to achieve their goals has been as scandalous as ours, the difference being that ours is a scandal of abundance and theirs is a scandal of scarcity. In either case, blame properly belongs to politicians out of touch with the realities of human nature.

In this regard, Khrushchev's most laughable comment on the situation came in his assessment of the price hike's effect on the people.

"I wouldn't say this is pleasant for the people," he said, "but the people understand this is far more unpleasant for the Central Committee of the Communist party and for the government."

This sounds mighty like the crutch traditionally used by U.S. politicians when they are about to levy new or expanded taxes.

"Nobody likes taxes," they say, "and this hurts us more than (or as much as) it hurts the taxpayers."

The existence of an element of truth in both the Russian and American versions does not alter the fact the people seldom are convinced.

The frightening aspect of these weird parallels between the Soviet and U.S. economies is that we don't know whether to rejoice or regret. Do they mean the Communists are passing where we already have been, or that we are heading in their direction?

Worst Of The Air Disasters

The French will be as thorough in their investigation of the "worst air disaster" as our own investigators would be under similar circumstances.

It is not just the numerical total of 130 lives lost that makes the takeoff crash of a Boeing 707 jet from Paris last Sunday the "worst." It is the fact the victims were Americans starting a journey home to Atlanta at the end of a three-week tour. They were guests of France.

The plane was chartered to Air France, a flag-line organization. The crew contained Frenchmen. The crash was at a French airport. French pride has been hurt. The pride of the plane's manufacturers has been hurt. Boeing, like all other plane manufacturers, has reliability of performance for sale; that is the airplane industry's most valuable stock in trade.

What will the investigators find?

It will be in all probability, evidence of some unique circumstance—something that could not have been foreseen, something that will not be permitted to occur again after it has been revealed.

Aviation has been made almost fool-proof. It is the safest way to cover distance because it is the quickest way to get there and back.

Every accident has made it safer, because every accident reveals something that hadn't been known before. Aviation is as safe as human intelligence can make it. It has been approaching the ultimate state of all the safety attainable year by year and may already have reached it.

Each fatal accident is both a setback to confidence and a boost, because each accident reveals something useful for increasing safety. When the investigators have reconstructed the circumstances of the tragedy at Orly Field in France last Sunday aviation will be a little safer than it was before.

Misquotation Was Possible

We hope there were serious omissions in an Associated Press report of a commencement address by Mrs. Eunice K. Shriver at the University of Santa Clara.

If the story was laid down in a correct version, the sister of President Kennedy and the wife of R. Sargent Shriver, Jr., director of the Peace Corps, is advocating service in a domestic Peace Corps for one and all.

This would go on for two years. Volunteers would offer their services for work in public schools, welfare agencies, courts and recreation departments, according to the AP version of Mrs. Shriver's commencement address.

We do hope the version is incorrect.

Nobody wants to believe members of the Kennedy family have blind spots where money is concerned. Everybody wants to believe, regardless of partisan politics, that the President and his brothers and sisters have not been misled by the fact they never lacked anything because of a shortage of funds.

We want to think they lean over backward, or crank their cash registers backward, to avoid giving offense to people who must work to eat.

We want to think Mrs. Shriver was misquoted when she said something that sounded as if she thought the rest of us had the option of passing up the rat race for a couple of years while we put in some good licks in a domestic Peace Corps.

Even with federal subsistence pay we couldn't make it, Mrs. Shriver—not and come up to our obligations as taxpaying patriots of a nation that is spending no less than $30 million of our money this year on the other Peace Corps—the one that spends our money elsewhere.

Losing The Game And The Candle

Secret Army terrorists in Algeria apparently are the latest well-publicized group to learn that the end does not justify the means. The game isn't worth the candle if both it and the candle are lost.

In their case, the means they employed was terror to thwart independent status for Algeria. But the terror backfired.

It convinced the Europeans in Algeria they could expect no security in a place where terror had become a way of life. Instead of thinking of the Secret Army as a means of thwarting independent status for Algeria, they began to think of it as the source of insecurity.

Realizing that the Algerian Moslems who had been the Secret Army's victims would seek revenge once they had been given authority, the Algerians who had the option of leaving for Europe departed in drives. The Secret Army had proved its point at the expense of the wrong people.

Now it is trying to prove another point—that it can turn off terror at will. At the end of last week it was reported to be dickering for a truce with the Moslems, based on a three-day "peace demonstration." It had turned off its own terror for three days.

The purpose was to prove to Algerians who already had fled to Europe and to others preparing to leave that security in Algeria depends on the terrorists, not on the French government. That has been self-evident for a long time.

Equally self-evident, however, is the ability of the terrorists to destroy security. It is like the scene in the old-fashioned melodrama when the villain, after having tried to burn down the poor widow's house and force her to accept his unwelcome advances, turns sweet and asks, "Why do you fear me, Nellie?"

Quit Lifting Us!

By Truman Twill

Some people have taken it on themselves to snoot those of us who spend too much time gawking at our gawk boxes. They regard us as a depraved lot who should be improving our minds.

These are the same people who have taken it on themselves to demand that people who run television should gussie it up with high-brow stuff that would improve our minds in spite of ourselves and make sneering references to our lack of taste.

It's only once in a Republican administration any more that anyone speaks up for the ordinary people, so flip your switches, Mr. Minow and uplifters one and all. Why don't you let us alone?

If we stare at television too much and if what we stare at makes your nose wrinkle, it's because no one is chartering a bus to take us to the beach. It's because we have nothing else to do. We're grateful for this much.

Remembering how things used to be when people sat around and hated one another in unrelieved boredom, remembering how shut-ins, the old, the ill and the never-privileged once withered up from the searing nothingness that cooked the juice out of their humdrum lives, we fall on our knees and thank New York and Hollywood, depending on which is closer.

We keep track of pap about things we might be doing to improve our minds and we even take a crack at mind-improving programs squeezed into TV time to appease the wolves. And we always reach the same conclusion:

They must have been thinking about somebody else's mind.

We think television is entertainment first of all and anything that muscles in on the entertainment angle had better be so good nobody will yawn and ask, "So what?" Because there won't be any answer.

We ourselves are rudimentary drivelers. We pretend to be nothing else. We never have crooked a finger or broadened an A. Self-improvement at our age makes no more sense than schemes for buying foreign friends with our tax dollars. That's typical of the way the people think who are everlastingly yakking about lifting our minds. They're always wanting to lift something.

What they lift is our right rear leg, the one we kick with when we get up off all fours. There's this twitching, see, an urge to kick somebody's fundament right up behind the bridge of his uplifted nose. Let's face it. We commoners don't want to be lifted.

Any More To Hatch?

Labor Watches The Market, Too

By Victor Riesel

Some of the bankers at numbers 23 and 44 Wall Street have been telephoned regularly by the "inner" White House. There have been queries about business' pique at the Kennedy administration — and why not nudge a few in financial circles and industrial sanctums into smoothing out matters.

Victor Riesel

Phone calls also have gone the other way. From, for example, the National Association of Manufacturers via proper channels requesting a conference with President Kennedy to talk things over.

All this has been observed by a third force whose leaders got blue in the face, like all of us, when Wall Street's blue chips took a drive for the canvas.

That third force which has a mighty investment stake on "The Street" is labor. It's people have a sharp interest in some 21 billion dollars worth of common stock.

Not generally known, this. But here's where all the money and investments come from: There now is at least 60 billion dollars in private (nongovernmental) pension fund assets.

ACTUALLY no one really knows exactly how many billions there are in these retirement caches. The Labor Department has been counting for months. They have about 160,000 pension systems on file. And they don't really know how many have not yet bothered to report.

From all the official briefings I've had, I gather there will be about $100 billion in these pension pools by the early '70s.

That's more money than Billie Sol Estes had fertilizer. But this figure is a scientific forecast by the nation's best informed pension experts.

Some of these pension funds cover union and nonunion workers and are run directly by corporations through banks.

Some—totalling high in the billions of dollars—are administered by joint labor-management trustees.

Some operate through insurance companies. Some operate on their own as "self-insured" projects.

THESE FUNDS must not be confused with the billions of dollars in the general assets and monies of union treasuries. The billions referred to here on the pension funds alone.

The unions rarely put their multi-million dollar treasuries and strike funds into common stock. They go mostly for government securities. These can be converted into liquid cash in a hurry—to pay out strike benefits, for example.

But the pension funds, with labor's approval, have gone heavily into the "market." Last year these labor-management funds bought slightly more than $2 billion worth of blue chip stock. This was more than any other group in the United States spent for common shares. This $2 billion came to fully 40 per cent of the total amount of new shares put on the market in 1961.

So all private pension funds now hold well over 21 billion dollars worth of common stock, in all, for they have been buying for years.

THESE PURCHASES have been so heavy that one union has long been thinking of buying a seat on the Stock Exchange itself.

But there's more. These pension funds also buy heavily into corporate bonds. Last year these funds, again with the approval of the labor trustees whenever they sat on the joint boards, bought more than a billion dollars worth of the best corporate bonds. This was second only to what the life insurance business bought.

Specifically how much of this type of corporate securities the pension funds hold, has not been fully reckoned. But there is a guide.

Back in 1960, those labor-management funds which set up their own private pension systems, already owned $13 billion dollars worth. This is only a small part of the pension business. So the figure, when finally set, will go higher than Carpenter and Glenn.

That's why, in addition to the White House and the banking houses, the "House of Labor" also watched the "market" closely last week. Lots of people on lots of sides are in this together.

Caviar Is Scarce

By Mark Frankland

One of the strange ideas that many foreigners have about Russia is that vodka and caviar are to its inhabitants what beer and hot dogs are to Americans.

Vodka is still undoubtedly the Russians' favorite strong drink in spite of its being under something of an official cloud. Its price has been sharply increased (foreign residents in Moscow find it cheaper to import their Russian vodka from Copenhagen or Helsinki than to buy it in Moscow), and theoretically there is a limit of 100 grams, or two small glasses, a head on vodka consumption in restaurants.

It is quite possible to stay in the Soviet Union for two or three months and still think that there is plenty of caviar. The sort of hotels a foreigner stays in and the sort of restaurants he eats in can usually provide him with caviar every day of the week.

BY COMPARISON with the price overseas it is cheap. Fifty grams of best black caviar — enough to cover thickly one large slive of toast — cost about $1.70.

The same amount of red caviar, which comes from various kinds of Siberian salmon, costs about 70 cents. Some Russians prefer it to the black because of its stronger taste. It is sometimes eaten mixed with sour cream.

Apart from the good restaurants, however, caviar, black or red, is hard to come by, even in the comparatively well-stocked Moscow food stores. I tried to buy some caviar in the capital's best shop, Gastromom No. 1. This shop is still sometimes called by the name of its former owner, Eliseyevsky but for all its old-fashioned chandelier and luch baroque decor, Eliseyevsky's could not let me have any caviar of any kind.

The explanation seems to be the caviar is an important foreign currency earner. The latest export figures are 192 tons in 1958, 234 tons in 1959 and 199 tons in 1960. In spite of the dip in 1960 exports, very likely due to natural causes, a constant rise in the price of caviar has meant a steady increase in the amount of foreign currency.

The current seven year plan included several measures designed to increase the production of both black and red caviar.

Black caviar comes from the Volga-Caspian basin, which provides the two-thirds of the world's total production. In recent years the natural reproduction of the caviar-producing sturgeon has been damaged by contamination of the waters of the lower Volga and neighboring rivers by industrial waste matter and impurities, and also by a disastrous fall in the water level of the Caspian sea itself.

The process of artifically breeding sturgeon has only recently been mastered successfully, but some factories now in existence already have plans for "harvesting" the young sturgeon twice a year. The little fish born and then released from these factories into seven foot monsters weig grow into seven foot monsters weighing around 300 pounds.

THE PLANS for increasing red caviar production are even more dramatic. Ten years ago the salmon were mainly caught in the Pacific off the coast of Siberia. A variety of causes, including Japanese fishing fleets, led a few years ago to a "salmon airlift" from the Pacific to the Atlantic. Fifty-five million salmon eggs we flown from Vladivostok to Murmansk, a port on the Barets sea coust.

Presidential Image

By David Lawrence

Canceled Papers Raise A Question

What kind of "image" do the people have of a president of the United States" Do they think of him as an ordinary mortal who reveals his annoyances and exuberances the same way that the average man does in everyday life? Do they think of him as a man of dignity, calmness, and bad temper or irascible outbursts, but the kind who, while at times inwardly pained, nevertheless exhibits outwardly the tolerance which a leader of the people is expected always to maintain?

David Lawrence

These questions come to mind when one reads that President Kennedy the other day ordered 22 subscriptions to the New York Herald Tribune canceled, thus notifying his entire staff not to read one of the principal newspapers of the country that presents the other side as well as the administration's side.

One of the aides of Mr. Kennedy has the constitutional right to read what he pleases. This is reminiscent of a cartoon some years ago in "The New Yorker" portraying an injured motorist being carried away, and the single caption read: "He had the right of way."

A president can continue to pick and choose what he reads but, if he shuts himself off from criticism, he runs the risk that in this era of polemical politics he will not understand just why public opinion is being turned against him.

If he is interested in reelection —and what president isn't?—the man in the White House will want to watch closely the currents of public opinion day by day so he can the more effectively put his own case before the voters, correcting errors and at the same time countering criticism with new proposals or policies.

IT'S EASY enough to say that there are plenty of other newspapers critical of the administration which Mr. Kennedy could ready to take the place of the one he canceled. But this is not really a persuasive answer to the criticism which now will spread throughout the country.

What will the people think of a president who gives the impression that he cannot tolerate reading the views of those who disagree with him? Is this the kind of image that any man in the White House would really want people to have of their president?

For the people do idealize the office of president. They think of it not merely as a trusteeship in their interest. They have an almost monarchial worship of the highest office in the land. They feel a throb of patriotism when the band plays "Hail to the Chief," and the chairman of a meeting says: "Ladies and Gentlemen, the president of the United States."

He is the people's president—their leader, their choice as a ruler for four years.

Any person can become angry, but a president isn't supposed to do so in public. He's supposed to have the patience of Job and to have the courage to rise above petty annoyances.

He doesn't represent just himself, or his family, or even his party.

He represents the United States of America before the world.

The American people "liked Ike" because he didn't play politics, even though realistically this was a bit of a handicap to him. The public doesn't think of the presidency as a place for a political machine or a Tammany-like boss, even as they see how a political apparatus for vote-getting can be built up by using presidential powers and public funds to that end.

President Eisenhower used to avoid reading a local newspaper, The Washington Post, but neither he nor his staff made a point of it or let it become a national episode.

IT ISN'T always easy for a newspaper or a critic to ignore a president's manifestation of displeasure. The New York Herald Tribune, in a front-page editorial, endeavored to give "the soft answer that turneth away wrath," in the hope that the President would forget his unhappy reaction to certain articles reporting on controversies in the news and on which Mr. Kennedy happens to be politically sensitive.

It is very important for every president to realize that in free America the newspapers do not tell their editors or writers that they must present the news or handle their editions in ways that will please the top man in the government or his staff.

The primary responsibility of a newspaper, moreover, is to its constituency of readers. The people want the story told without regard to whether it politically helps or hurts the administration in power.

It is a mistake for any president to ignore criticism or to brush it aside as mere partisanship or political antagonism. The other side may not be palatable. It may be aggravating. But it is important or a president to read it.

Henry L. Mencken, the brilliant editor and satirist, used to answer biting letters from critics with this single sentence: "you may be right." Indeed, on many points the "other fellow" might be wrong, but on certain points there is always a chance that he may be right.

Letters To The Editor

The 17-year locust or cicada is with us again this year. Another plague, this time local and annual has returned with the warm weather.

The tag sellers range in size and age from men and women "selling" paper flowers to little boys of 9 and 10 wearing baseball uniforms. Despite differences in appearance, all such specimen have one object in mind. They are out to get money for their "cause". Their method is abominable: they beg.

It is appalling when one considers what is happening here. Young people, many just children, are led onto street corners by their supposedly responsible leaders. Armed with a cottage cheese container and a fistful of paper tags, these impressionable youngsters are trained to beg for money. They learn to expect (and too often get!) money, not by earning it through work or charity, but by repeatedly whining "Wanna buy a tag, mister?" to every passerby.

Scarcely a day goes by that someone does not observe that the younger generation is going to heck in a hurry. Saturday tag-days seem to have a higher such incident rate. True or not, I would submit that "tag selling", with the resultant idea that "Ask long enough, and ye shall receive...", aids and abets youth's journey.

While one cannot deny the virtue of little league baseball and aid to disabled veterans, perhaps less offensive fund - raising techniques could be devised. Some organizations sell cookies and cure all salves; others use the less popular and infinitely more exhausting plan of working for money.

Tag days are offensive and embarrassing to many people. It is time they came to an end. Since it seems apparent that any organization can solicit funds on city streets with impuny (not so the individual begger whose non-profit aim also is self - maintenance) there is little chance of action from city authorities.

Action must come from individuals who are accosted in the streets. It is quite easy and much cheaper to refuse to contribute.

I hereby affirm that I am still in favor of such institutions as motherhood, Little League baseball, and high school bands, but I balk at supporting child beggers and their unimaginative leaders. When tag days cease to be profitable, streets can once again be returned to more traditional solicitors.

Bond Issue Plan Cleared

EAST PALESTINE — Council Monday night approved legislation calling for issuance of $625,000 in mortgage revenue bonds for a new turbo generator at the city power plant and also increased sewer rental fees in line with a sewage disposal plant improvement.

The bond issue is part of a $1.2 million improvement at the power plant, and will provide for the purchase and installation of a 7,500-kilowatt generator, doubling the plant output.

Council boosted the annual sewer rental fees from $12 to $24 annually in line with the $330,000 sewage plant project. The fee increase is also a requirement for application for a federal load for the project.

Fees were last boostedin 1956, from $6 to $12.

Council also authorized the purchase of a new police cruiser, not to exceed $2,500, and tabled action on a proposal by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. to install automatic gates at two city crossings.

A railroad representative detailed the proposal, as requested by Council at a previous meeting, but Council failed to schedule any further action on the plan.

Council Acts On Replacing Rogers Hall

ROGERS — Tentative plans for sale of the present Community Hall and construction of a new hall were outlined at a meeting of Council Monday night. Approval was given for private garbage collection in the village.

Councilman Everett Galbreath discussed the proposal sale of the present hall, purchased from Beaver Local School District in 1948, and cited the cost of repairs, heating and maintenance.

Councilman Ed Galbreath said he had been visited by representatives of the Montour Railroad Co. concerning the village's previous interest in buying the property on which the railroad depot stands along Route 7 as a site for a new hall.

Council instructed Mrs. Maine Hall, clerk, to write to the railroad, offering about $200 for the property or about $300 if the village has to raze the depot, no longer used.

Mayor Robert McCreary said he will confer with Solicitor Donald Elliott to determine if a meeting can be scheduled Wednesday night to study legal arrangements for the sale of the present building. Ed Galbreath and Councilman George Long would meet with the solicitor, along with the mayor.

Council granted permission to James White of the Y. & O. Rd., representing the Columbiana County Refuse Disposal Co., to solicit in the village for customers for his service.

The village has no garbage collection at present, and a New Waterford hauler occassionally collects trash,. The village has a clean-up twice a year.

White said his firm will collect trash and garbage weekly at a cost of $2 a month.

Ben Gardner asked Council if any action had been taken on his request at the last meeting for restrictions on the use of storm sewers for raw sewage in the village, which has no sewage disposal system.

Gardner said he has written to the Ohio Department of Health concerning the condition, and will continue to write unless action is taken. He said he also plans to write to Gov. Michael DiSalle and other officials.

Councilmen said a number of property owners are involved, and the Council lacks the authority to excavate on private land. Mayor McCreary said he will schedule a meeting with County Sanatarian Harry Stockdale concerning the problem.

Councilman Everett Galbreath reported 147 residents — "99 per cent of the population" — nave signed a petition to the Ohio Highway Department requesting an amber blinker warning signal for Route 7 in the village.

Mrs. Veda Cope asked Council for reimbursement for damages caused to her home by surface water two years ago, pointing out no action had been taken on a previous request. Council agreed to slate a conference with Solicitor Elliott and County Prosecutor William Brokaw, with Council accepting the recommendation of that meeting.

Income Tax Office Rushed

Because of the heavy press of business, the city income tax office probably will require another week before it is able to estimate the number of taxpayers who failed to file estimates of their 1962 earned income and pay the first quarterly installment, Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson said today.

However, the penalty provided in the city ordinance — interest at the rate of 6 per cent yearly and a maximum $5 penalty for the first six months — went into effect Monday, Wilkinson said.

The staff is about a week behind in posting accounts and has about three days' accumulation of mail to open, Wilkinson said, explaining it was "swamped" by taxpayers in the final few days before the extension deadline last Saturday.

Those who turned in their estimates and payments of at least 25 per cent before noon Saturday or mailed them prior to midnight Sunday will not be subject to the interest and penalty, he added.

The estimates are required only of individuals whose entire income is not subject to withholding at the source. Those who filed the estimates but failed to enclose payment of at least 25 per cent are subject to the $5 penalty, he added.

Sheriff Investigates Gypsy Caravan's Stop

The sheriff's office is investigating a report that a band of gypsies moved into Echo Dell Park, apparently "squatting," after complaints of residents of the area.

The caravan, which included four pickup trucks, three house trailers and a smaller trailer, was met at the Chester Bridge about 1:45 p. m. yesterday by police and detained temporarily before being escorted to the Substation area on Routes 7 and 30, officers said.

The gypsies had trailer permits from West Virginia permitting them to travel from Huntington to Chester between Friday and midnight yesterday, officers said, adding the permits were marked "one way, no return."

The gypsy leader told officers the group is making and selling lawn furniture.

Project's Noise Echoes Through Court Hearings

The law calls the procedure a hearing, but it was anything but that for five defendants who faced Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning in the daily police court session.

Three floors below, directly underneath the court chamber, a street department crew was hard at work with a pneumatic hammer, tearing up a long stretch of old sidewalk in front of City Hall.

The court's windows were closed, despite the hot, humid weather, to help hold down the noise. A highlight's motor and sledge hammer noise added to the din.

Conversation was next to impossible throughout the building, particularly in offices with open windows overlooking the scene of the work.

The city started work yesterday on replacement of the badly-deteriorated sidewalk. Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin said the job should be finished next week. The work cut traffic to one lane in the stretch of W. 6th St. between the municipal parking lot and Peach Alley, immediately east of City Hall.

The Canadian government has approved a $5 million fund to be spent annually to encourage Canadian participation in national and international sports.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Piatt, 412 15th St., she plans to attend Mt. Union College at Alliance to study mathematics to become a secondary teacher.

A capacity crowd of over 1,200 attended the commencement. The 118 graduating seniors were presented their diplomas by Earl Bake, Board of Education president.

The High School Band played the processional and recessional and the A Cappella Choir sang.

Palms and ferns were used in the decorations. The students were dressed in the traditional black and white caps and gowns.

Miss Piatt and Miss Mary Kay Wellington, salutatorian, were speakers.

Miss Wellington traced the advances made in various fields in her talk on "We Look Back" while Miss Piatt spoke on the advances anticipated in the future in her talk on "We Look Ahead."

A battle with a prolonged illness was won when Miss Patreen Fogo, a member of the graduating class, received her diploma.

Sixth among the top students of the class, a National Honor Society member, a commercial course student and an outstanding one in bookkeeping, she was stricken with polio in October 1953. She spent nine months in St. Elizabeth Hospital in Youngstown, was tutored at home for her fifth grade studies and then returned to school for her sixth through eighth grade education.

In June 1958, following her graduation from No. 16 School, Miss Fogo underwent two leg operations at the Youngstown hospital to correct the crippling effects of polio. Through these operations she is able to walk with the aid of two canes. She received tutoring at home for her freshman year and was able to return to high school for the concluding three years' classroom studies.

Miss Fogo, daughter of Mrs. Kathryn Fogo of Clark Ave., and the late James Fogo, has made her home with her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Culp, 1729 Lincoln Ave., formerly of the old Irondale Rd., since she was 7 weeks old.

Completion of her education has been made possible by her determination and courage, strengthened by the encouragement and help of her grandparents, mother, doctors and teachers, especially in the high school, who assisted her in getting to her classes and in other ways.

ATTENTION LOCAL 1212 MEMBERS!

Recently we were indulged with the "white paper" on the state of our local union and the accomplishments of the present administration. The administration must feel wholly insecure when it stoops to a very low grade to get votes by advertising at the expense of an injured and sickly disabled fellow union member.

It makes excuses for not being able to settle grievances with the expediency promised two years ago because of so many obstacles it is encountering. Can these be of a greater magnitude than those encountered by our leaders in the early days of our union? It is very doubtful. If this administration worked as diligently as it pretends, it could have speeded up the processing of grievances instead of making excuses for the tremendous backlog now on hand. Commitments are a dime a dozen and can be gotten without too much effort. Fulfillment is what the membership wants.

All progressive and legislative action taken by our local union is and must be approved by the membership at our regular monthly meetings, yet the administration wants to take sole credit except where it means the possible loss of a segment of voters. Who are they trying to kid? True, the education of the local union officers and committeemen and the inauguration of the Phillip Murray Scholarship are milestones in our progress for better representation and education, but these, too, had to be approved by the membership and were not instituted unilaterly by the administration.

As for the responsibility and qualifications of some of the candidates who are seeking $50 and $100-a-month jobs; sounds like the kettle calling the pot black.

How many more elections are we going to be reminded of the food distribution of 1959? Lending a helping hand to the dire needs of the steelworker and his family was the chief concern of the International because the success or failure of the strike rested on the steelworkers' ability to hold out and they did.

The administration talks about incentives and its satisfaction of being able to hold the line on No. I Merchant Mill. Can one take satisfaction for an average of 128% when the union considers anything under 135% as not being just, fair and equitable? ABSOLUTELY NOT! For more than two years No. 1 Merchant Mill's average was 127% and yet production has doubled for a measly increase of 1% of the year's average. Some satisfaction!

Last, but not least, the administration states it cannot afford to "play politics" at our expense. Has it? And how many candidates on its ticket have in some way, shape or form ties with city politics? We wonder!

These are the facts and we, also, are proud to present them to you and wish to thank you for taking a little time out to read them.

So vote for the change while it's within range because if you wait, it may be too late.

Council Acts On Replacing Rogers Hall

ROGERS — Tentative plans for sale of the present Community Hall and construction of a new hall were outlined at a meeting of Council Monday night. Approval was given for private garbage collection in the village.

Councilman Everett Galbreath discussed the proposal sale of the present hall, purchased from Beaver Local School District in 1948, and cited the cost of repairs, heating and maintenance.

Councilman Ed Galbreath said he had been visited by representatives of the Montour Railroad Co. concerning the village's previous interest in buying the property on which the railroad depot stands along Route 7 as a site for a new hall.

Council instructed Mrs. Maine Hall, clerk, to write to the railroad, offering about $200 for the property or about $300 if the village has to raze the depot, no longer used.

Mayor Robert McCreary said he will confer with Solicitor Donald Elliott to determine if a meeting can be scheduled Wednesday night to study legal arrangements for the sale of the present building. Ed Galbreath and Councilman George Long would meet with the solicitor, along with the mayor.

Council granted permission to James White of the Y. & O. Rd., representing the Columbiana County Refuse Disposal Co., to solicit in the village for customers for his service.

The village has no garbage collection at present, and a New Waterford hauler occassionally collects trash,. The village has a clean-up twice a year.

White said his firm will collect trash and garbage weekly at a cost of $2 a month.

Ben Gardner asked Council if any action had been taken on his request at the last meeting for restrictions on the use of storm sewers for raw sewage in the village, which has no sewage disposal system.

Gardner said he has written to the Ohio Department of Health concerning the condition, and will continue to write unless action is taken. He said he also plans to write to Gov. Michael DiSalle and other officials.

Councilmen said a number of property owners are involved, and the Council lacks the authority to excavate on private land. Mayor McCreary said he will schedule a meeting with County Sanatarian Harry Stockdale concerning the problem.

Councilman Everett Galbreath reported 147 residents — "99 per cent of the population" — have signed a petition to the Ohio Highway Department requesting an amber blinker warning signal for Route 7 in the village.

Mrs. Veda Cope asked Council for reimbursement for damages caused to her home by surface water two years ago, pointing out no action had been taken on a previous request. Council agreed to slate a conference with Solicitor Elliott and County Prosecutor William Brokaw, with Council accepting the recommendation of that meeting.

Midland Girl Suffers Injury In Fall Through Skylight

A Midland girl who fell through a skylight at Midland High School and a city potter hurt in a fall at work were admitted to City Hospital. Six area residents were treated and released Monday and today after separate mishaps.

Gloria Dawson, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dawson, 520 Virginia Ave., Midland, is in "fairly good" condition with a possible fracture of the spine and wrist injuries suffered in the fall at the school.

Principal William A. Walters said there are conflicting reports on how the girl fell, but apparently she dropped something out of a second-story window onto the roof of the metal shop and after retrieving it, stepped on the skylight and broke through, falling into the metal shop below. The metal shop addition is only a story high.

Orville McDole Jr., 31, of Shadyside Ave., a kilndrawer at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co., was admitted at 2 a. m. today with a back injury suffered when he slipped and twisted his back at work. He is in "fairly good" condition.

Income Tax Office Rushed

Because of the heavy press of business, the city income tax office probably will require another week before it is able to estimate the number of taxpayers who failed to file estimates of their 1962 earned income and pay the first quarterly installment, Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson said today.

However, the penalty provided in the city ordinance — interest at the rate of 6 per cent yearly and a maximum $5 penalty for the first six months — went into effect Monday, Wilkinson said.

The staff is about a week behind in posting accounts and has about three days' accumulation of mail to open, Wilkinson said, explaining it was "swamped" by taxpayers in the final few days before the extension deadline last Saturday.

Those who turned in their estimates and payments of at least 25 per cent before noon Saturday or mailed them prior to midnight Sunday will not be subject to the interest and penalty, he added.

The estimates are required only of individuals whose entire income is not subject to withholding at the source. Those who filed the estimates but failed to enclose payment of at least 25 per cent are subject to the $5 penalty, he added.

Sheriff Investigates Gypsy Caravan's Stop

The sheriff's office is investigating a report that a band of gypsies moved into Echo Dell Park, apparently "squatting," after complaints of residents of the area.

The caravan, which included four pickup trucks, three house trailers and a smaller trailer, was met at the Chester Bridge about 1:45 p. m. yesterday by police and detained temporarily before being escorted to the Substation area on Routes 7 and 30, officers said.

The gypsies had trailer permits from West Virginia permitting them to travel from Huntington to Chester between Friday and midnight yesterday, officers said, adding the permits were marked "one way, no return."

The gypsy leader told officers the group is making and selling lawn furniture.

Subdivisions Asked To List Ballot Issues

The County Election Board has asked subdivisions to advise it as soon as possible of any contemplated special questions or issues at the Nov. 8 general election so that it can anticipate its requirements in seeking ballot bids.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said letters have been mailed to county, city, village, township and school district officials, asking their co-operation in listing bond issues or tax levies as soon as possible.

Bids on ballot printing will be opened Aug. 14 at 2 p. m., O'Hanlon pointed out, and the information is needed to anticipate ballot requirements.

The filing deadline for bond issues and tax levies varies. Some sections of the state law require they be submitted by Aug. 8 — 90 days before the general election, whlie some subdivisions can file under the uniform tax act, which permits filing until Sept. 15.

However, the board must have absentee ballots available by Sept. 7, O'Hanlon warned the subdivisions.

Three ballots will be required in addition to any special questions and issues, O'Hanlon said. They would be for state, district and county posts, a proposed state amendment and a non - partisan judicial ballot listing candidates for Supreme Court, Appellate Court, Common Pleas Court and County Court judges.

All county residents except East Liverpool and Liverpool Township voters would ballot on County Court judges. The city and Liverpool Township are in jurisdiction on East Liverpool Municipal Court.

The deadline for filing petitions for County Court nominations is Aug. 8 while Aug. 14 — the same deadline for opening ballot bids— is the final date to certify the sufficiency of the petitions, O'Hanlon said.

The proposed state amendment would be an initiative petition which, in effect, would abolish "Sunday blue laws" in Ohio, O'Hanlon said.

Locally, petitions are being circulated to repeal the municipal income tax and the city school district may submit one or two levies asking for renewal of a 3-mill tax and the possibility of a new operating levy.

3 Drivers Fined, 2 Others Forfeit Bond

LISBON — Three drivers were fined Monday in County Judge James L. MacDonald's court and two others forfeited appearance bonds.

William D. Landsberger, 42, of Lisbon R. D. 5 was fined $29.70 for driving an overloaded truck; Roger S. Paxton, 19, of Malvern R. D. 5, $5 and costs for passing traffic at a railroad crossing, and Jerry E. Duvall, 19, of Steubenville R. D., $5 and costs for crossing the yellow line in a hazardous zone.

Giacamo Sanfelice, 22, of Beaver Falls forfeited $20 for passing at the crest of a hill. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

To Face Sentence

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)— An Ohioan who pleaded guilty to a charge of unarmed robbery in the $1,029 holdup of the Western Union office here in January is slated to be sentenced June 15. George Jackson Moore, 22, of near Kingston faces imprisonment of 5-18 years.

Subdivisions Asked To List Ballot Issues

The County Election Board has asked subdivisions to advise it as soon as possible of any contemplated special questions or issues at the Nov. 8 general election so that it can anticipate its requirements in seeking ballot bids.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said letters have been mailed to county, city, village, township and school district officials, asking their co-operation in listing bond issues or tax levies as soon as possible.

Bids on ballot printing will be opened Aug. 14 at 2 p. m., O'Hanlon pointed out, and the information is needed to anticipate ballot requirements.

The filing deadline for bond issues and tax levies varies. Some sections of the state law require they be submitted by Aug. 8 — 90 days before the general election, whlie some subdivisions can file under the uniform tax act, which permits filing until Sept. 15.

However, the board must have absentee ballots available by Sept. 7, O'Hanlon warned the subdivisions.

Three ballots will be required in addition to any special questions and issues, O'Hanlon said. They would be for state, district and county posts, a proposed state amendment and a non - partisan judicial ballot listing candidates for Supreme Court, Appellate Court, Common Pleas Court and County Court judges.

All county residents except East Liverpool and Liverpool Township voters would ballot on County Court judges. The city and Liverpool Township are in jurisdiction on East Liverpool Municipal Court.

The deadline for filing petitions for County Court nominations is Aug. 8 while Aug. 14 — the same deadline for opening ballot bids— is the final date to certify the sufficiency of the petitions, O'Hanlon said.

The proposed state amendment would be an initiative petition which, in effect, would abolish "Sunday blue laws" in Ohio, O'Hanlon said.

Locally, petitions are being circulated to repeal the municipal income tax and the city school district may submit one or two levies asking for renewal of a 3-mill tax and the possibility of a new operating levy.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

A Running Target

In his old gangster movies, Jimmy Cagney could take an infinite number of machine gun shells in his vital parts, lurch a good five blocks through darkened city streets, and stagger up a few dozen granite steps before falling in a heap at the church door.

Alan Gill

I can think of only one other moving target with quite this measure of stamina and esprit and he is Bert Parks.

His critics have been grunting at the task of beating Mr. Parks to death with a stick for quite a few years now.

-:-

BUT THE PEARLY GRIN on that tanned face has lost not one whit of its challenge; not one black hair has come undone on that patent-leather roof; and the whites of the man's eyes are a clear and innocent reproof to the many marksmen who have taken steady aim. You've got to score the match at Parks 21, Critics 0.

At lunch the other day, Parks was saying that it wasn't the critics who counted as far as he was concerned, or the ratings either.

"I just look at the long, long line of nice people wrapping around the corner of 66th St. every morning, waiting to see 'Yours for a Song,' and I know that, brother, I'm home."

-:-

ANOTHER reassurance, he says, is his dedication to integrity.

"You don't do anything dishonest, you don't do what an advertising agency man wants you to do just to be cooperative, you sell only the products you believe in, and everything's nice and cozy for you then. Nothing can hurt you."

Did Mr. Parks mind, a visitor asked, if the visitor examined the label on Mr. Parks' shirt?

"You don't have to," Parks said. "That label's tattoed to mah skin!"

The soft-velvet echoes of Atlanta came into his voice once in awhile as he tells you of his childhood in the South.

"The accent is something I can turn on or off. When I get a Southerner on the show, man, out it comes in all its glory!"

-:-

FOR THE LAST 30 of Bert Parks' 47 years, he's been steadily employed on radio and TV. The boy who, in his early teens, would entertain Atlanta movie audiences with his imitations of the mighty (climaxed always with a Charlie Chaplin walk), was at 17 opening the radio day by introducing Little Jack Little.

A few years later, he was Eddie Cantor's straight man and announcer. And, much later, there came the quiz shows, game shows and audience participation shows that put Bert Parks—for better or worse, but certainly for richer—on the map.

"The songs we sing on 'Yours for a Song' are, like me, from way-back-when. 'Moon River' is, I think, the only new song with a genuine melody that's come along in years. That's a shame because people like to open their mouths and sing out. Mitch Miller's proved that."

-:-

LOOKING into that mobile face of Bert Parks for an hour or so—and at close range—can bring an ache to a visitor's eyebrows; one expression chases another across the man's face like the flashing lights of a juke box; and his hand is bumping your elbow for emphasis, drumming the table, shifting the silverware.

Are you, Mr. Parks was asked, a nervous fellow?

"Before a show I am," he said. "My eyes glaze over and I can walk right through anybody like a ghost through walls. I see nothing at all, man.

"And there's always somebody there talking about the weather or his kids or whatever, and I'm saying, 'yah, yah, you said it,' but I'm walkin' through him, right straight through."

-:-

WELL THEN, what does he do for relaxation?

"I garden—do it all myself. I swim and take the kids water skiing. Oh, you don't get me onto the things myself! Sprained ankle, mister, and I'm out of business! Washed up!

"Whenever I cross the street, I look both ways, and I send two Boy Scouts out ahead of me and if they make it to the other side, then I'll try it myself."

The last I saw of Parks, he as hustling off toward a rehearsal hall, preparing to slip back into his old role of "The Music Man" for a two-week engagement next month in Seattle. He looked both ways before crossing 44th St. and 44th is a one-way street.

Steubenville Man Elected To Lodge Post

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A nearly all-Ohio board of officers was installed today at the convention of the District Grand Lodge 2, B'nai B'rith.

The eight-state district named Baron H. Gold of Cincinnati president; Nate Lipson of Steubenville and Aaron Grossman of Youngstown, vice presidents; Donald W. Harris, Cincinnati, secretary, and Max Kohnop, Dayton, treasurer.

Vote To Accept Pact

CINCINNATI (AP) — Striking Teamsters Union yard workers have voted to accept a new contract and end a five-day walkout against concrete - producers in greater Cincinnati. Walter Schulz, president of Local 100, said the new agreement over three years calls for 15 cent hourly pay boosts each year.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Bad Television Rebuked By FCC Head

At last the millions of parents who care about what their children are exposed to and lured to view on TV have an official champion of their rights and wishes. He is Newton N. Minow, Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. When he makes a public speech, what he says is news and it finds generous space in the public press. But as some of his remarks are not so complimentary to TV and radio stations, they seldom are heard on the air.

Dr. Garry Meyers

MR. MINOW keeps saying that the air waves belong to the public and that the broadcasting companies using these air waves have a responsibility to the public for producing programs of high quality, educationally, culturally, morally; that, moreoever, the broadcasting companies are granted licenses to broadcast by the FCC, a government organization serving the interests of the public; and that the public has a right to expect each station to measure up to high standards of programs.

More than a year ago, Mr. Minow, speaking before the National Association of Broadcasters, suggested the broadcasters spend an entire day watching TV.

"You will observe a vast wasteland," he told them. "You will see a procession of game shows, violence, audience participation shows, formula comedies about totally unbelievable families, blood and thunder, mayhem, sadism, murder, Western bad men, Western good men, private eyes, gangsters, more violence. . .I believe in the people's good sense and good taste, and I am not convinced that the people's taste is as low as some of you assume."

—:—

A YEAR LATER, Mr. Minow, standing again before a convention of the National Association of Broadcasters, said that TV had improved in its news and public affairs efforts in the past year. But he charged that the nation's need for cultural values was being advanced "nowhere near well enough".

"Your public trust," he added, "is the obligation to move forward — here, now today,—to perfect this magnificent instrument of broadcasting."

During the year, Mr. Minow has held a number of conferences throughout the nation, at which were asked to defend the rising criticisms of their programs from representatives of the public. You and I have read these defenses in our newspapers and have seen how pathetic most of them are.

"Ye shall know the truth and the truth will set you free."

Hints From Heloise

Warns Of Too Much Housekeeping

Dear Heloise: Efficiency in housekeeping should be taught in college where the girl is close to marriage but absolutely in trade schools for girls who do not go to college!

Your column fascinates me. I try everything you suggest! Most of the work the average woman does in housekeeping is simply a waste of time and every woman should free herself for reading or some sort of hobby.

First and foremost, she should plan some recreation for herself every day to give her an incentive to get her work done in a hurry!

If she doesn't get her chores finished, she should stop for the recreation anyway and finish the chore later.

I believe that we would have fewer women in mental institutions if they had more interests that were just fun for them and that our husbands would be happier if they were not used merely as escorts to give wives their recreation.

I would also like to suggest more than to find a magazine he has been reading left where he put it the night before. Most homes are too tidy and stiff. Every woman tries to make her rooms look just like a picture magazine.

When one tries to have a home look like all the beautiful pictures then there is no comfort, interest, homey feeling or needs. Sanitation should be first in a woman's mind.

After you please each member of your family and your home still has too much clutter for your friends, fix up a little neat corner just for them. Or better still, ask them to call before they come so that the clutter can all be pitched into a closet or covered with a sheet!

Many homes are not homes any more because of too much housekeeping.

Short Slip

DEAR HELOISE:

For those of us who are lazy, don't have enough time to shorten our slips (because the dresses get shorter each day), and can't afford to buy new ones, take the scissors and cut that pleated ruffled off! I did.

Now here is another hint that is a few years ahead of time but budgeteers will appreciate it later... save that ruffle! When dresses get longer (and they have to eventually) sew the ruffle back on the slip. Good nylon and dacron slips are expensive and never seem to wear out for a housewife, as we go out so seldom. I am wearing one now that is nine years old.

WAR BRIDE

No-Stick Trays

DEAR HELOISE:

I rub cooking oil on the bottom of my ice trays to keep them from sticking.

If bathroom racks come lose, remove the screws, wrap some cotton around them, dip into glue and replace screws (or nails) in original holes. If this method is used on pictures, don't replace the picture until the glue is completely dry.

I remove the rust spots from chrome (plated on automobiles and other household articles) by wadding up a piece of aluminum foil and dampening it, then rubbing the rust stops. My chrome always looks like new.

Student Receives Year In Jail For Shooting Coed

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Bennett E. Blakeslee, 20, of Avon pleaded guilty Monday to shooting without malice a coed on the campus of Ohio University and was sentenced to one year in the Athens County jail.

Common Pleas Court Judge John Bolin also stipulated that Blakeslee pay the girl's medical costs, totaling $523, but said that up to four months of the sentence may be suspended depending on the outcome of psychiatric treatment.

Present at the pre - sentence hearing was Lora Jean Smalley, 21, of Toledo, who recovered from three bullet wounds inflicted in the shooting in front of her dormitory the night of Jan. 22.

Blakeslee and Miss Smalley, who were sophomores, had dated regularly. He was expelled after the incident.

Blakeslee was indicted on a charge of shooting with intent to kill but was permitted to plead to the lesser charge after a jury was formed to hear his trial.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

A Running Target

In his old gangster movies, Jimmy Cagney could take an infinite number of machine gun shells in his vital parts, lurch a good five blocks through darkened city streets, and stagger up a few dozen granite steps before falling in a heap at the church door.

Alan Gill

I can think of only one other moving target with quite this measure of stamina and esprit and he is Bert Parks.

His critics have been grunting at the task of beating Mr. Parks to death with a stick for quite a few years now.

-:-

BUT THE PEARLY GRIN on that tanned face has lost not one whit of its challenge; not one black hair has come undone on that patent-leather roof; and the whites of the man's eyes are a clear and innocent reproof to the many marksmen who have taken steady aim. You've got to score the match at Parks 21, Critics 0.

At lunch the other day, Parks was saying that it wasn't the critics who counted as far as he was concerned, or the ratings either.

"I just look at the long, long line of nice people wrapping around the corner of 66th St. every morning, waiting to see 'Yours for a Song,' and I know that, brother, I'm home."

-:-

ANOTHER reassurance, he says, is his dedication to integrity.

"You don't do anything dishonest, you don't do what an advertising agency man wants you to do just to be cooperative, you sell only the products you believe in, and everything's nice and cozy for you then. Nothing can hurt you."

Did Mr. Parks mind, a visitor asked, if the visitor examined the label on Mr. Parks' shirt?

"You don't have to," Parks said. "That label's tattoed to mah skin!"

The soft-velvet echoes of Atlanta came into his voice once in awhile as he tells you of his childhood in the South.

"The accent is something I can turn on or off. When I get a Southerner on the show, man, out it comes in all its glory!"

-:-

FOR THE LAST 30 of Bert Parks' 47 years, he's been steadily employed on radio and TV. The boy who, in his early teens, would entertain Atlanta movie audiences with his imitations of the mighty (climaxed always with a Charlie Chaplin walk), was at 17 opening the radio day by introducing Little Jack Little.

A few years later, he was Eddie Cantor's straight man and announcer. And, much later, there came the quiz shows, game shows and audience participation shows that put Bert Parks—for better or worse, but certainly for richer—on the map.

"The songs we sing on 'Yours for a Song' are, like me, from way-back-when. 'Moon River' is, I think, the only new song with a genuine melody that's come along in years. That's a shame because people like to open their mouths and sing out. Mitch Miller's proved that."

-:-

LOOKING into that mobile face of Bert Parks for an hour or so—and at close range—can bring an ache to a visitor's eyebrows; one expression chases another across the man's face like the flashing lights of a juke box; and his hand is bumping your elbow for emphasis, drumming the table, shifting the silverware.

Are you, Mr. Parks was asked, a nervous fellow?

"Before a show I am," he said. "My eyes glaze over and I can walk right through anybody like a ghost through walls. I see nothing at all, man.

"And there's always somebody there talking about the weather or his kids or whatever, and I'm saying, 'yah, yah, you said it,' but I'm walkin' through him, right straight through."

-:-

WELL THEN, what does he do for relaxation?

"I garden—do it all myself. I swim and take the kids water skiing. Oh, you don't get me onto the things myself! Sprained ankle, mister, and I'm out of business! Washed up!

"Whenever I cross the street, I look both ways, and I send two Boy Scouts out ahead of me and if they make it to the other side, then I'll try it myself."

The last I saw of Parks, he as hustling off toward a rehearsal hall, preparing to slip back into his old role of "The Music Man" for a two-week engagement next month in Seattle. He looked both ways before crossing 44th St. and 44th is a one-way street.

Steubenville Man Elected To Lodge Post

The eight-state district named Baron H. Gold of Cincinnati president; Nate Lipson of Steubenville and Aaron Grossman of Youngstown, vice presidents; Donald W. Harris, Cincinnati, secretary, and Max Kohnop, Dayton, treasurer.

Vote To Accept Pact

CINCINNATI (AP) — Striking Teamsters Union yard workers have voted to accept a new contract and end a five-day walkout against concrete - producers in greater Cincinnati. Walter Schulz, president of Local 100, said the new agreement over three years calls for 15 cent hourly pay boosts each year.

Koufax Adds 13 Strikeouts In LA's 6-3 Win At Philly

Dodgers Trailing Giants Now By 2

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

If anything fits Sandy Koufax to a T it's a K.

The Los Angeles Dodgers' whiff king added another flock of K's to his amazing strikeout total Monday night, fanning 13 batters en route to a three-hit, 6-3 victory over Philadelphia in the only game played in either league.

The letter "K" stands for strikeout in marking a game scoring book.

The triumph, moving second-place Los Angeles within two games of National League-leading San Francisco, boosted Koufax' record to 8-2 and further propelled the 26-year-old left-hander along the road to what he wants most—a 20-victory campaign.

"Strikeouts are nice to have," says Koufax, "but I wouldn't trade a 20-victory season for all the strikeout records in the book."

He's the only pitcher in major league history to strike out 18 twice, hold the league record for 269 strikeouts in one season and fan 10 or more 36 times—all during an 8-year career. But his 18-13 record last year was the closest he's come to winning 20.

Koufax's standout effort against the Phils gave him a total of 123 strikeouts in 101 innings this season, marked his fourth consecutive complete game triumph and gave him a string of 10-16-10-13 set down via the strikeout route over the four-game span.

The Dodger swifty allowed a leadoff single to Tony Taylor in the first inning, then retired 17 batters in order before Taylor walked in the seventh. He tired in the ninth, allowing John Callison's single, a walk to Roy Sievers and a pinch-hit homer by Jackie Davis with two out.

The Dodgers pulled ahead to stay against Art Mahaffey (5-7), winless in seven starts against Los Angeles, with a run in the first on Maury Wills' single, his steal of second and bunt singles by Willie Davis and Tommy Davis. The Dodgers chased Mahaffey in the second when Wally Moon and John Roseboro tagged consecutive homers leading off the inning.

The Dodgers move over to Pittsburgh tonight for a twi-nighter with the Pirates while the Giants, who have held the top spot by winning 11 of 12, will be at Chicago for a day game. Cincinnati is at St. Louis, Milwaukee at Houston and New York at Philadelphia for other nighters on a full program.

It'll be Stan Williams (5-1) and Don Drysdale (8-3) for the Dodgers against Earl Francis (2-2) and Bob Friend (5-6). The Giants will send Jack Sanford (6-4) or Billy O'Dell (6-3) against the Cubs Bob Buhl (3-3).

The American League spotlight falls on New York, where Cleveland's surprising Indians and the defending world champion Yankees open a 3-game series that will determine first place in the tight race bracketing five teams within 2½ games of the league lead.

The Indians will start Jim Grant (3-0), on furlough from the Army, while Ralph Terry (6-4) will take the mound for the Yanks. Grant defeated Terry and the Yankees 7-1 with a five-hitter in an earlier meeting. Cleveland has taken five of the seven games between the two clubs, tied for first place with 27-19 records.

Third-place Minnesota, a half-game back of the leaders, will be trying to gain ground by knocking off visiting Kansas City. Fourth-place Detroit, only one game out of first, is at Boston, fifth-place Los Angeles is home to Chicago and Washington is at Baltimore. The entire American League program will be played under the lights.

Los Angeles	120 001 110	6	12 2
Philadelphia	000 000 003	3	3 1

Kouax and Roseboro; Mahaffey, Hamilton (2), Baldschun (8) and Oldis. W—Koufax (8-2). L—Mahaffey (5-7).

Home runs—Los Angeles, Moon (3), Roseboro (3). Philadelphia, J. Davis (1).

Venturi Fails To Qualify For U.S. Open Tournament

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ask the nation's golf professionals to pick the fellow tourist with the No. 1 picture swing and game and chances are a majority would nominate Ken Venturi.

The same Venturi will be among the missing when a field of 150 tees off for the start of the U.S. Open Championship at Oakmont, Pa., June 14.

Venturi was the best-known casualty Monday as the final stage of qualifying began for the National Open. The 31-year-old San Francisco pro, who had the Masters championship in his pocket and lost it in 1956 and again in 1960, failed to make the grade in the 36-hole sectional competition at Memphis, where he and many others took the test a day after competing in the Memphis Open.

Bill Collins and Jim Ferree also missed out, as did former British Open champion Kel Nagle of Australia, as 50 berths in the U.S. Open were determined at Memphis and in sectionals at Cincinnati, Dallas, Kansas City, Denver and Tacoma, Wash.

Eighty-one more spots will be contested for today at seven other locations, topped by the Montclair N.J., sectional where the $100,000 Classic Open begins on Thursday.

Sam Snead, winner of everything else in golf except the Open, heads a Montclair lineup that also includes Bob Rosburg, Paul Harney, Phil Rodgers, Bobby Nichols, Stan Leonard, Earl Steward, Jack Fleck and Don Fairfield. Other tests in Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit, Atlanta, Washington, D.C., and San Francisco will complete the two days of qualifying for the 131 non-exempt berths in America's premier tournament.

Nineteen players, including defending champion Gene Littler, were totally exempt from the eliminations that began two weeks ago. The others who drew passes into the championship proper were Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Billy Casper, Tommy Bolt, Dick Mayer, Jerry Barber, Bob Goalby, Doug Sanders, Jack Nicklaus, Mike Souchak, Dow Finsterwald, Doug Ford, Eric Monti, Jacky Cupit, Gardner Dickinson, Billy Maxwell, Gay Brewer and Johnny Pott.

Butch Baird of Galveston, Tex., clipped three strokes off par in leading the 27 Memphis qualifiers with 69-68—137 for the 6,724-yard, par 35-35—70 Memphis Country Club course. Lionel Hebert, who won the Memphis Open on Sunday; his brother, Jay, and Cary Middlecoff, Jackie Burke, Don January, Don Whitt, Dave Ragan, Mason Rudolph, Art Wall, George Bayer, Bruce Crampton, and Joe Campbell also survived the Memphis test, which took a 36-hole score of 143 or better.

Bob Zimmerman of Dayton led seven qualifiers at Cincinnati with 70-68—138. Amateur Labron Harris Jr. of Stillwater, Okla., headed the five qualifiers at Dallas. Army Capt. Orville Moody shot 69-70—139 for top position among four qualifiers at Denver. Stan Thirsk of Kansas City and amateur Jim Tom Blair of St. Louis each had 138 totals in Kansas City. Eight golfers sought two berths at Tacoma, and the leader was Adrian Bigras of Ft. Lewis, Wash., with 70-70—140.

Kansas City Hitters Top Loop In 2 Departments

NEW YORK (AP)—While rookie Manny Jimenez of Kansas City continues to lead the American League in batting, teammate Norm Siebern has forged to the front in runs batted in.

Siebern, acquired by the Athletics in the deal that sent Roger Maris to the New York Yankees before the 1960 season, displaced injured Al Kaline of Detroit as the RBI leader. The bespectacled first baseman drove in five during the week for a total of 39, one more than Kaline.

Jimenez, meanwhile, hung onto the batting lead despite a slump. The outfielder from the Dominican Republic sports a .362 average even though he lost 30 points on 3-for-19.

Runner-up Chuck Essegian of the Cleveland Indians also had a poor week at the plate, his average skidding 32 points to .347. He went 4-for-21.

Kaline, sidelined with a fractured collarbone, climbed a notch from fourth to third without swinging a bat. His average remained at .336.

In the National League, outfielder Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs maintained the lead with a .359 mark. His average was hiked eight points with 11-for-27.

The Phils' Tony Gonzalez enjoyed the biggest gain, a 16-point increase, as he climbed from a seventh place tie a week ago to second at .347. A 12-for-29 performance accounted for the upsurge.

Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco dropped a notch from second to third at .341. He went 10-for-34 and lost eight points.

Willie Mays of the Giants hit four homers during the week to boost his national league-leading output to 19. Los Angeles' Tommy Davis took over the RBI lead from Cepeda with 55. Jim Gentile of Baltimore remains the American League home run leader with 15.

Court Suit Looms Over Sale Of Reds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy has elected to go to court in his bid to open the books of Cincinnati's Crosley Foundation on the sale of the Cincinnati Reds baseball team.

Theodore Saker, McElroy's first assistant, said Monday work on the suit has started already and the mandamus action would probably be filed later this week.

The foundation, which inherited the team after the death of owner Powel Crosley Jr. last year, sold the Reds to club president Bill DeWitt March 23 for $4,625,000.

McElroy decided to probe the sale under his supervisory powers over charitable trusts. He noted that a Cincinnati syndicate headed by Joseph Rippe Jr. offered $5.5 million for the team.

MeElroy's request for the foundation to open its records to Rippe met with failure.

Foundation attorney Charles Sawyer said Monday, "I still hope that no suit will be filed. If a suit is filed and we must meet in court, I welcome it."

Rotz Rides Greek Money In Belmont Run Saturday

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Put it down in your notebook—this guy John Lawrence Rotz is the hottest rider in the country right now. He not only can ride with the best of them, he also has Lady Luck going for him.

The former Illinois farm boy, modest, with curly black hair and an upturned nose, is a $100,000-plus man in annual slaary. Ten years ago he was graduated from Warrensburg, Ill., high school.

Rotz, 27 and a very eligible bachelor, rides Greek Money Saturday in the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park. The colt will be one of the favorites in the 1½ miles race, last and toughest of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown.

Rotz scored two of the biggest upsets in racing when he won the $188,300 Preakness aboard Donald P. Ross' Greek Money and the $111,900 Metropolitan Handicap with Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back. Rotz admits there was a lot of luck involved.

Greek Money earned $135,800 in the Preakness, Carry Back $72,735 for the Met. With the usual 10 per cent, it was a profitable 10 days for Rotz to pocket $20,853.

The day after he graduated from high school, Rotz went to Fairmount Park, Illinois night track, and began working around the stables. He won his first race with Betsy T. Aug. 6, 1953 at Chicago's Washington Park. For eight years he rode in Kentucky, Illinois and Florida.

In 1961 Rotz decided to tackle New York, the "Big Apple" as the horsemen know it. Johnny was the leading rider for the season and he leads them all again this year.

WVU To Meet Ohio State In Basketball

MORGANTOWN — For the first time in 22 years, perennial power Ohio State returns to the West Virginia University basketball schedule next season.

The Buckeyes are one of three new opponents included in the 1962-63 schedule released by WVU Athletic Director Robert N. Brown. Other newcomers are Davidson and Florida.

The card includes two holiday tournaments. The Mountaineers will play in the Kentucky Invitational at Lexington, Ky., Dec. 21-22, and the Holiday Festival at New York Dec. 26-29.

The Mountaineers have met Ohio State only once previously in basketball. The Buckeyes won a 58-44 decision in the opening game of the 1940-41 campaign. They will meet Dec. 8 at Columbus, Ohio, in the first of a scheduled home-and-home series.

Florida, which never has appeared on the WVU schedule, will be met Jan. 30 at Charleston. Also scheduled for Charleston is a Dec. 5 game with VMI.

West Virginia has beaten Davidson four times in as many tries, all in Southern Conference Tournament play. The two teams last met in 1959.

Kentucky, Iowa and Oregon State round out the field for the Kentucky Invitational. On hand for the Holiday Festival in Madison Square Garden will be Boston College, Duquesene, Holy Cross, Illinois, NYU, Pennsylvania and St. Bonaventure.

The festival appearance will replace WVU's annual game in the Garden.

The schedule:

Dec. 1, The Citadel; 5, VMI at Charleston; 8, at Ohio State; 11, Richmond; 21-22, Kentucky Invitational; 26-29, Holiday Festival at New York City.

Jan. 3, VMI; 5, Furman; 8, Davidson; 12, at George Washington; 16, Penn State; 19, Virginia Tech; 26, at Duke; 28, at Furman; 30, Florida at Charleston.

Feb. 2, at Pitt; 5, at Virginia Tech; 9, William & Mary at Norfolk, Va; 13, Pitt; 16, at Richmond; 20, at Penn State; 23, George Washington.

No-Hit Belinsky Has Inside Track

Allen Among 43 Seeking Rookie Honors For 1962

BOSTON (AP) — Who has the inside track for American League rookie honors this year—Bo Belinsky, Manny Jimenez or another bright newcomer?

League headquarters, not wanting to seem partial, left the answer up to fan discussion today when it issued a report on the 43 rookies on squad rosters. The home office notes that about 20 already have bid strongly for recognition.

Southpaw whiz Belinsky, of no-hit fame appears the current choice on the defensive side of the ledger. The glib Los Angeles hurler has a 6-2 record and a glittering 2.51 earned run average to go along with the AL's first no-hitter since 1958.

Offensively, Kansas City outfielder Jimenez heads the race for the batting crown by consistently turning back challenges from veteran stickmen. The Dominican Republic native is batting .362. A lefthanded swinger, he has mastered the art of hitting to the opposite field.

The A's have eight, including catcher Joe Azcue and third baseman Ed Charles, who came in the deal that brought Jimenez from Milwaukee. The others are outfielder Jose Tartabull, plus pitchers Dave Wickersham (6-1 including last six in a row, 2.70 ERA), John Wyatt, Dan Pfister and Diego Segui.

The Angels' six are promising catcher Bob Rodgers, infielders Felix Torres and Tom Burgess, and picthers Dean Chance and Bob Botz.

Switch-hitting Mike Tresh handles shortstop so well for the New York Yankees that there is talk predecessor Tony Kubek will be an outfielder after he returns from service. Tresh has socked home 27 runs with his workmanlike .270 batting average.

More recently, outfielder-first baseman Joe Pepitone has blossomed into a dangerous slugger for the defending world champs with 10 extra base blows and 10 RBI to show for 21 hits.

Cleveland is impressed by its rookie outfielders, Al Luplow and Ty Cline.

Second baseman Bernie Allen plus righthanded pitchers Joe Bonikowski and Lee Stange get a major assist in helping the surprising Minnesota Twins remain close to the pace.

Chicago claims "the strongest, most accurate arm in baseball" for outfielder Mike Hershberger (.274, 22 RBI), and has five complete games out of righthander Joe Horlen (5-2).

Though temporarily eclipsed by a leg injury, 6-5, 235-pound John (Boog) Powell of Baltimore is a strong contender for rookie laurels.

Pitcher Dave Stenhouse has proved a rugged foe as his 3-1 record for last-place Washington attests.

Boston offers a battery of giants, righthanded relief pitcher Dick Radatz (6-6, 240) and catcher Bob Tillman (6-4, 210). Radatz has 37 strikeouts and a 2.17 earned run average for 29 1-3 innings.

Cincy, Tribe Split Series

CLEVELAND (AP) — Howie Nunn, getting 11-hit support from his teammates, pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians in an exhibition game here Monday night.

Highlight of the National Leaguers' attack was a four-run output by Marty Keough on two doubles and a single. Gordie Coleman and Hank Foiles also homered for the Reds.

Chuck Essegian and Bubba Phillips tied into Nunn for homers for Cleveland, but they were the American Leaguers' only tallies.

Nunn retired the last 11 men he faced after hitting a batter in the sixth.

The game was another in a series of benefits between the two teams for sandlot baseball in the Cleveland and Cincinnati areas. Cleveland won the first game this year.

The Indians resume their league play tonight at New York. Jim (Mudcat) Grant (3-0) is slated to opposed the Yankees' Ralph Terry (6-4) on the mound.

The Reds are in St. Louis tonight, with Bob Purkey (9-1) scheduled to pitch against the Cardinals' Curt Simmons (6-2).

J. R. Porter's 23 points topped Saturday's par-birdie-eagle contest. Patterson and Don Schreckengost tied for the runnerup spot with 21 each while R. T. McDaniel and F. J. Cloran recorded 20 points.

In the second division, Irwin finished on top with 28 while L. W. Smith Jr. and W. A. Porter were deadlocked for second with 25 apiece.

Koufax Adds 13 Strikeouts In LA's 6-3 Win At Philly

Dodgers Trailing Giants Now By 2

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

If anything fits Sandy Koufax to a T it's a K.

The Los Angeles Dodgers' whiff king added another flock of K's to his amazing strikeout total Monday night, fanning 13 batters en route to a three-hit, 6-3 victory over Philadelphia in the only game played in either league.

The letter "K" stands for strikeout in marking a game scoring book.

The triumph, moving second-place Los Angeles within two games of National League-leading San Francisco, boosted Koufax' record to 8-2 and further propelled the 26-year-old left-hander along the road to what he wants most—a 20-victory campaign.

"Strikeouts are nice to have," says Koufax, "but I wouldn't trade a 20-victory season for all the strikeout records in the book."

He's the only pitcher in major league history to strike out 18 twice, hold the league record for 269 strikeouts in one season and fan 10 or more 36 times—all during an 8-year career. But his 18-13 record last year was the closest he's come to winning 20.

Koufax's standout effort against the Phils gave him a total of 123 strikeouts in 101 innings this season, marked his fourth consecutive complete game triumph and gave him a string of 10-16-10-13 set down via the strikeout route over the four-game span.

The Dodger swifty allowed a leadoff single to Tony Taylor in the first inning, then retired 17 batters in order before Taylor walked in the seventh. He tired in the ninth, allowing John Callison's single, a walk to Roy Sievers and a pinch-hit homer by Jackie Davis with two out.

The Dodgers pulled ahead to stay against Art Mahaffey (5-7), winless in seven starts against Los Angeles, with a run in the first on Maury Wills' single, his steal of second and bunt singles by Willie Davis and Tommy Davis. The Dodgers chased Mahaffey in the second when Wally Moon and John Roseboro tagged consecutive homers leading off the inning.

The Dodgers move over to Pittsburgh tonight for a twi-nighter with the Pirates while the Giants, who have held the top spot by winning 11 of 12, will be at Chicago for a day game. Cincinnati is at St. Louis, Milwaukee at Houston and New York at Philadelphia for other nighters on a full program.

It'll be Stan Williams (5-1) and Don Drysdale (8-3) for the Dodgers against Earl Francis (2-2) and Bob Friend (5-6). The Giants will send Jack Sanford (6-4) or Billy O'Dell (6-3) against the Cubs Bob Buhl (3-3).

The American League spotlight falls on New York, where Cleveland's surprising Indians and the defending world champion Yankees open a 3-game series that will determine first place in the tight race bracketing five teams within 2½ games of the league lead.

The Indians will start Jim Grant (3-0), on furlough from the Army, while Ralph Terry (6-4) will take the mound for the Yanks. Grant defeated Terry and the Yankees 7-1 with a five-hitter in an earlier meeting. Cleveland has taken five of the seven games between the two clubs, tied for first place with 27-19 records.

Third-place Minnesota, a half-game back of the leaders, will be trying to gain ground by knocking off visiting Kansas City. Fourth-place Detroit, only one game out of first, is at Boston, fifth-place Los Angeles is home to Chicago and Washington is at Baltimore. The entire American League program will be played under the lights.

Los Angeles	120	001	110—6 12 2
Philadelphia	000	000	003—3 3 1

Kouax and Roseboro; Mahaffey, Hamilton (2), Baldschun (8) and Oldis. W—Koufax (8-2). L—Mahaffey (5-7).

Home runs—Los Angeles, Moon (3), Roseboro (3). Philadelphia, J. Davis (1).

Venturi Fails To Qualify For U.S. Open Tournament

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ask the nation's golf professionals to pick the fellow tourist with the No. 1 picture swing and game and chances are a majority would nominate Ken Venturi.

The same Venturi will be among the missing when a field of 150 tees off for the start of the U.S. Open Championship at Oakmont, Pa., June 14.

Venturi was the best-known casualty Monday as the final stage of qualifying began for the National Open. The 31-year-old San Francisco pro, who had the Masters championship in his pocket and lost it in 1956 and again in 1960, failed to make the grade in the 36-hole sectional competition at Memphis, where he and many others took the test a day after competing in the Memphis Open.

Bill Collins and Jim Ferree also missed out, as did former British Open champion Kel Nagle of Australia, as 50 berths in the U.S. Open were determined at Memphis and in sectionals at Cincinnati, Dallas, Kansas City, Denver and Tacoma, Wash.

Eighty-one more spots will be contested for today at seven other locations, topped by the Montclair N.J., sectional where the $100,000 Classic Open begins on Thursday.

Sam Snead, winner of everything else in golf except the Open, heads a Montclair lineup that also includes Bob Rosburg, Paul Harney, Phil Rodgers, Bobby Nichols, Stan Leonard, Earl Steward, Jack Fleck and Don Fairfield. Other tests in Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit, Atlanta, Washington, D.C., and San Francisco will complete the two days of qualifying for the 131 non-exempt berths in America's premier tournament.

Nineteen players, including defending champion Gene Littler, were totally exempt from the eliminations that began two weeks ago. The others who drew passes into the championship proper were Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Billy Casper, Tommy Bolt, Dick Mayer, Jerry Barber, Bob Goalby, Doug Sanders, Jack Nicklaus, Mike Souchak, Dow Finsterwald, Doug Ford, Eric Monti, Jacky Cupit, Gardner Dickinson, Billy Maxwell, Gay Brewer and Johnny Pott.

Butch Baird of Galveston, Tex., clipped three strokes off par in leading the 27 Memphis qualifiers with 69-68—137 for the 6,724-yard, par 35-35—70 Memphis Country Club course. Lionel Hebert, who won the Memphis Open on Sunday; his brother, Jay, and Cary Middlecoff, Jackie Burke, Don January, Don Whitt, Dave Ragan, Mason Rudolph, Art Wall, George Bayer, Bruce Crampton, and Joe Campbell also survived the Memphis test, which took a 36-hole score of 143 or better.

Bob Zimmerman of Dayton led seven qualifiers at Cincinnati with 70-68—138. Amateur Labron Harris Jr. of Stillwater, Okla., headed the five qualifiers at Dallas. Army Capt. Orville Moody shot 69-70—139 for top position among four qualifiers at Denver. Stan Thirsk of Kansas City and amateur Jim Tom Blair of St. Louis each had 138 totals in Kansas City. Eight golfers sought two berths at Tacoma, and the leader was Adrian Bigras of Ft. Lewis, Wash., with 70-70—140.

Kansas City Hitters Top Loop In 2 Departments

NEW YORK (AP)—While rookie Manny Jimenez of Kansas City continues to lead the American League in batting, teammate Norm Siebern has forged to the front in runs batted in.

Siebern, acquired by the Athletics in the deal that sent Roger Maris to the New York Yankees before the 1960 season, displaced injured Al Kaline of Detroit as the RBI leader. The bespectacled first baseman drove in five during the week for a total of 39, one more than Kaline.

Jimenez, meanwhile, hung onto the batting lead despite a slump. The outfielder from the Dominican Republic sports a .362 average even though he lost 30 points on 3-for-19.

Runner-up Chuck Essegian of the Cleveland Indians also had a poor week at the plate, his average skidding 32 points to .347. He went 4-for-21.

Kaline, sidelined with a fractured collarbone, climbed a notch from fourth to third without swinging a bat. His average remained at .336.

In the National League, outfielder Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs maintained the lead with a .359 mark. His average was hiked eight points with 11-for-27.

The Phils' Tony Gonzalez enjoyed the biggest gain, a 16-point increase, as he climbed from a seventh place tie a week ago to second at .347. A 12-for-29 performance accounted for the upsurge.

Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco dropped a notch from second to third at .341. He went 10-for-34 and lost eight points.

Willie Mays of the Giants hit four homers during the week to boost his national league-leading output to 19. Los Angeles' Tommy Davis took over the RBI lead from Cepeda with 55. Jim Gentile of Baltimore remains the American League home run leader with 15.

Court Suit Looms Over Sale Of Reds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy has elected to go to court in his bid to open the books of Cincinnati's Crosley Foundation on the sale of the Cincinnati Reds baseball team.

Theodore Saker, McElroy's first assistant, said Monday work on the suit has started already and the mandamus action would probably be filed later this week.

The foundation, which inherited the team after the death of owner Powel Crosley Jr. last year, sold the Reds to club president Bill DeWitt March 23 for $4,625,000.

McElroy decided to probe the sale under his supervisory powers over charitable trusts. He noted that a Cincinnati syndicate headed by Joseph Rippe Jr. offered $5.5 million for the team.

MeElroy's request for the foundation to open its records to Rippe met with failure.

Foundation attorney Charles Sawyer said Monday, "I still hope that no suit will be filed. If a suit is filed and we must meet in court, I welcome it."

Rotz Rides Greek Money In Belmont Run Saturday

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Put it down in your notebook—this guy John Lawrence Rotz is the hottest rider in the country right now. He not only can ride with the best of them, he also has Lady Luck going for him.

The former Illinois farm boy, modest, with curly black hair and an upturned nose, is a $100,000-plus man in annual slaary. Ten years ago he was graduated from Warrensburg, Ill., high school.

Rotz, 27 and a very eligible bachelor, rides Greek Money Saturday in the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park. The colt will be one of the favorites in the 1½ miles race, last and toughest of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown.

Rotz scored two of the biggest upsets in racing when he won the $188,300 Preakness aboard Donald P. Ross' Greek Money and the $111,900 Metropolitan Handicap with Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back. Rotz admits there was a lot of luck involved.

Greek Money earned $135,800 in the Preakness, Carry Back $72,735 for the Met. With the usual 10 per cent, it was a profitable 10 days for Rotz to pocket $20,853.

The day after he graduated from high school, Rotz went to Fairmount Park, Illinois night track, and began working around the stables. He won his first race with Betsy T. Aug. 6, 1953 at Chicago's Washington Park. For eight years he rode in Kentucky, Illinois and Florida.

In 1961 Rotz decided to tackle New York, the "Big Apple" as the horsemen know it. Johnny was the leading rider for the season and he leads them all again this year.

WVU To Meet Ohio State In Basketball

MORGANTOWN — For the first time in 22 years, perennial power Ohio State returns to the West Virginia University basketball schedule next season.

The Buckeyes are one of three new opponents included in the 1962-63 schedule released by WVU Athletic Director Robert N. Brown. Other newcomers are Davidson and Florida.

The card includes two holiday tournaments. The Mountaineers will play in the Kentucky Invitational at Lexington, Ky., Dec. 21-22, and the Holiday Festival at New York Dec. 26-29.

The Mountaineers have met Ohio State only once previously in basketball. The Buckeyes won a 58-44 decision in the opening game of the 1940-41 campaign. They will meet Dec. 8 at Columbus, Ohio, in the first of a scheduled home-and-home series.

Florida, which never has appeared on the WVU schedule, will be met Jan. 30 at Charleston. Also scheduled for Charleston is a Dec. 5 game with VMI.

West Virginia has beaten Davidson four times in as many tries, all in Southern Conference Tournament play. The two teams last met in 1959.

Kentucky, Iowa and Oregon State round out the field for the Kentucky Invitational. On hand for the Holiday Festival in Madison Square Garden will be Boston College, Duquesene, Holy Cross, Illinois, NYU, Pennsylvania and St. Bonaventure.

The festival appearance will replace WVU's annual game in the Garden.

No-Hit Belinsky Has Inside Track

Allen Among 43 Seeking Rookie Honors For 1962

BOSTON (AP) — Who has the inside track for American League rookie honors this year—Bo Belinsky, Manny Jimenez or another bright newcomer?

League headquarters, not wanting to seem partial, left the answer up to fan discussion today when it issued a report on the 43 rookies on squad rosters. The home office notes that about 20 already have bid strongly for recognition.

Southpaw whiz Belinsky, of no-hit fame appears the current choice on the defensive side of the ledger. The glib Los Angeles hurler has a 6-2 record and a glittering 2.51 earned run average to go along with the AL's first no-hitter since 1958.

Offensively, Kansas City outfielder Jimenez heads the race for the batting crown by consistently turning back challenges from veteran stickmen. The Dominican Republic native is batting .362. A lefthanded swinger, he has mastered the art of hitting to the opposite field.

The A's have eight, including catcher Joe Azcue and third baseman Ed Charles, who came in the deal that brought Jimenez from Milwaukee. The others are outfielder Jose Tartabull, plus pitchers Dave Wickersham (6-1 including last six in a row, 2.70 ERA), John Wyatt, Dan Pfister and Diego Segui.

The Angels' six are promising catcher Bob Rodgers, infielders Felix Torres and Tom Burgess, and pitchers Dean Chance and Bob Botz.

Switch-hitting Mike Tresh handles shortstop so well for the New York Yankees that there is talk predecessor Tony Kubek will be an outfielder after he returns from service. Tresh has socked home 27 runs with his workmanlike .270 batting average.

More recently, outfielder-first baseman Joe Pepitone has blossomed into a dangerous slugger for the defending world champs with 10 extra base blows and 10 RBI to show for 21 hits.

Cleveland is impressed by its rookie outfielders, Al Luplow and Ty Cline.

Second baseman Bernie Allen plus righthanded pitchers Joe Bonikowski and Lee Stange get a major assist in helping the surprising Minnesota Twins remain close to the pace.

Chicago claims "the strongest, most accurate arm in baseball" for outfielder Mike Hershberger (.274, 22 RBI), and has five complete games out of righthander Joe Horlen (5-2).

Though temporarily eclipsed by a leg injury, 6-5, 235-pound John (Boog) Powell of Baltimore is a strong contender for rookie laurels.

Pitcher Dave Stenhouse has proved a rugged foe as his 3-1 record for last-place Washington attests.

Boston offers a battery of giants, righthanded relief pitcher Dick Radatz (6-6, 240) and catcher Bob Tillman (6-4, 210). Radatz has 37 strikeouts and a 2.17 earned run average for 29 1-3 innings.

Cincy, Tribe Split Series

CLEVELAND (AP) — Howie Nunn, getting 11-hit support from his teammates, pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians in an exhibition game here Monday night.

Highlight of the National Leaguers' attack was a four-run output by Marty Keough on two doubles and a single. Gordie Coleman and Hank Foiles also homered for the Reds.

Chuck Essegian and Bubba Phillips tied into Nunn for homers for Cleveland, but they were the American Leaguers' only tallies.

Nunn retired the last 11 men he faced after hitting a batter in the sixth.

The game was another in a series of benefits between the two teams for sandlot baseball in the Cleveland and Cincinnati areas. Cleveland won the first game this year.

The Indians resume their league play tonight at New York. Jim (Mudcat) Grant (3-0) is slated to opposed the Yankees' Ralph Terry (6-4) on the mound.

The Reds are in St. Louis tonight, with Bob Purkey (9-1) scheduled to pitch against the Cardinals' Curt Simmons (6-2).

Well Ahead Of 1961 Pace

Arnold Palmer Is Headed For No. 1 $ In Pro Golf

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

The way Arnold Palmer is going he will make a shambles of the PGA golf compeition long before the summer. In three weeks running he earned $22,300 by winning three straight tournaments—Texas Open, Tournament of Champions and the Colonial.

His Colonial victory at Fort Worth, after a playoff against likeable Johnny Pott, ran his earnings for less than five months of 1962 competition to $59,308. In all of 1961 he won $61,091.

It is possible that Arnie this year will become the first golfer to pick up $100,000, or close to it, for hitting the little white ball.

He is so far ahead of a select field that includes former Open champions, Bill Casper and Gene Littler, that from here on in the Latrobe, Pa., muscle man will be favored in any tournament he enters, and that includes the U. S. Open and the British Open.

Most golf experts are reserving their opinions pertaining to Palmer's greatness, but since he is only 32 the chances are good that he will go down in history as the greatest golfer who ever walked a fairway.

The finish of his swing on tee shots may be faulted by some but nobody can fault his results. He is long off the tee, lays long iron shots stiff to the pin and has a knock-kneed putting style all his own. He is bold with every shot and in the Masters he drew galleryites that normally would follow Ben Hogan and Sam Snead.

Palmer already is well ahead of his 1961 pace. Since his great three-way playoff victory in the Masters he put together three more fantastic tournament victories.

Palmer finishes up in a manner that defies one's wildest imagination. For instance, in the Texas Open at Oak Hills in San Antonio he knew what he had to do to win from 170 yards out. He took a 7 iron and layed the shot stiff to the pni, only 18 inches away. He sank the putt to win by one stroke and 20,000 went wild. He picked up $4,300 on rounds of 67-69-70-67.

Next week at Las Vegas he was on the fringe, three inches from the green and 25 feet from the hole. Billy Casper, only a few feet from the cup, must have envisioned a tie. But Palmer, using a putter on the fringe, dropped the 25 footer and picked up 11,000 silver dollars. His rounds in the Tournament of Champions were 69-70-69-68.

Next week at Marvin Leonard's Colonial in Fort Worth, Palmer had his troubles afer 67-72-66 had put him in good shape. Arnie came up with an unbelieveable 76 while Johnny Pott, a winner the previous week at Burneyville, Okla., streaked to a 69 and a tie. But in the playoff, Palmer shot 37-32 (69) to Pott's 38-35 (73). Arnie tore up the back nine with three birdies and picked up $7,000 as he gained his eighth playoff win in 11 such efforts.

Casper and Pott, it appears, will be worth watching in the coming Open (June 14-16) at Oakmont near Pittsburgh, Pa., but it will be Palmer who may give the USGA marshalls some difficulty.

His stature as a great golfer is growing rapidly, and so are his fans. They will turn out en masse because Pittsburgh is Palmer territory.

You may recall Arnie's first U. S. Open. It was played at Oakmont in 1953 when he was 24 and a Coast Guardsman. Arnie shot 84-78 for 162 and missed the cut for the final 36 holes by nine shots.

But there's a vast difference in the Palmer of today and the one who scrambled in 14 tournaments before winning the 1955 Canadian Open, his first of 32 victories as a professional.

Pipers Talk To Havlicek

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Havlicek, the Ohio State basketball star, met with Cleveland Pipers officials Monday, but president George Steinbrenner said after the session nothing definite was decided.

"We talked with John and told him what we could do," Steinbrenner said.

Havlicek was drafted by the Pipers of the American Basketball League and the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association. He also is being sought by the Cleveland Browns of the National Football league.

"I understand the Celtics are after him, and so are the Browns—for football," Steinbrenner said. "He said he'd try and let us know within a week."

2 Local Dogs Given Honors

Two local dogs, both members of the local Obedience Training School, captured honors at the Beaver County Kennel Club show Sunday.

A shetland sheep dog named Select Princess Gidget, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith of Newell, took first in the puppy division ages 6-9 months and also first in age group, finished fourth in working and was named the best of breed in class.

A German shepherd pup, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heckathorne of Hillcrest, placed first in the obedience class by scoring 196½ points out of a possible 200 and also scored best of breed in class.

Some 180 dogs competed in all classes.

Newell Captures Opening Game In South Side Loop

The Newell American Leigon entry in the South Side Hot Stove Junior League successfully opened the campaign with a 4-3 victory at Frankfort Springs Monday.

Newell broke a 3-3 tie with the winning run in the sixth inning. Bob Wallace, the winning hurler, fanned nine batters and was the hitting star with a pair of singles.

Roach was the loser. He fanned 14 but gave up nine walks. The Frankfort hurler accounted for all his team's runs when he belted a three run homer. Each pitcher gave up six hits.

Three games are set in the Senior Loop tonight with Hanover at Newell, Lawrenceville at Frankfort and Shippingport - Georgetown at Hookstown.

Chinese Refugee Family Arrives From Hong Kong

CHICAGO (AP)—The first family of Chinese refugees admitted under President Kennedy's new emergency admission program arrived in Chicago today after a flight from Hong Kong.

The new arrivals are See Sueeng, 45, his wife Yung Sue-san, and three of their four children. They have been trying to come to the United States since applying for entry in 1955.

"This is the happiest day of my life," Eng announced through an interpreter.

"I am very happy that President Kennedy issued the refugee act and gave me and my family a chance to come to America to see my father and to take care of his business."

Eng plans to assume management of a restaurant operated for many years in suburban Park Ridge by his father, Frank Jing Eng, 79. The elder Eng, critically ill in a hospital, left China in 1916 and had never seen his son until 1959 when he visited Hong Kong.

A group of relatives, including the elder Eng's second wife, Yuk-Ping, were at O'Hare International Airport to meet them. Eng and his wife do not speak English. Their children are able to speak a little.

The union will try to enlist opposition to the consolidation of the two giant eastern systems from communities along the two roads.

The 12 states are Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New York, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Missouri. There are 35,000 BRT members in these states who work the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central.

Well Ahead Of 1961 Pace

Arnold Palmer Is Headed For No. 1 $ In Pro Golf

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

The way Arnold Palmer is going he will make a shambles of the PGA golf compeition long before the summer. In three weeks running he earned $22,300 by winning three straight tournaments—Texas Open, Tournament of Champions and the Colonial.

His Colonial victory at Fort Worth, after a playoff against likeable Johnny Pott, ran his earnings for less than five months of 1962 competition to $59,308. In all of 1961 he won $61,091.

It is possible that Arnie this year will become the first golfer to pick up $100,000, or close to it, for hitting the little white ball.

He is so far ahead of a select field that includes former Open champions, Bill Casper and Gene Littler, that from here on in the Latrobe, Pa., muscle man will be favored in any tournament he enters, and that includes the U. S. Open and the British Open.

Most golf experts are reserving their opinions pertaining to Palmer's greatness, but since he is only 32 the chances are good that he will go down in history as the greatest golfer who ever walked a fairway.

The finish of his swing on tee shots may be faulted by some but nobody can fault his results. He is long off the tee, lays long iron shots stiff to the pin and has a knock-kneed putting style all his own. He is bold with every shot and in the Masters he drew galleryites that normally would follow Ben Hogan and Sam Snead.

Palmer already is well ahead of his 1961 pace. Since his great three-way playoff victory in the Masters he put together three more fantastic tournament victories.

Palmer finishes up in a manner that defies one's wildest imagination. For instance, in the Texas Open at Oak Hills in San Antonio he knew what he had to do to win from 170 yards out. He took a 7 iron and layed the shot stiff to the pni, only 18 inches away. He sank the putt to win by one stroke and 20,000 went wild. He picked up $4,300 on rounds of 67-69-70-67.

Next week at Las Vegas he was on the fringe, three inches from the green and 25 feet from the hole. Billy Casper, only a few feet from the cup, must have envisioned a tie. But Palmer, using a putter on the fringe, dropped the 25 footer and picked up 11,000 silver dollars. His rounds in the Tournament of Champions were 69-70-69-68.

Next week at Marvin Leonard's Colonial in Fort Worth, Palmer had his troubles afer 67-72-66 had put him in good shape. Arnie came up with an unbelieveable 76 while Johnny Pott, a winner the previous week at Burneyville, Okla., streaked to a 69 and a tie. But in the playoff, Palmer shot 37-32 (69) to Pott's 38-35 (73). Arnie tore up the back nine with three birdies and picked up $7,000 as he gained his eighth playoff win in 11 such efforts.

Casper and Pott, it appears, will be worth watching in the coming Open (June 14-16) at Oakmont near Pittsburgh, Pa., but it will be Palmer who may give the USGA marshalls some difficulty.

His stature as a great golfer is growing rapidly, and so are his fans. They will turn out en masse because Pittsburgh is Palmer territory.

You may recall Arnie's first U. S. Open. It was played at Oakmont in 1953 when he was 24 and a Coast Guardsman. Arnie shot 84-78 for 162 and missed the cut for the final 36 holes by nine shots.

But there's a vast difference in the Palmer of today and the one who scrambled in 14 tournaments before winning the 1955 Canadian Open, his first of 32 victories as a professional.

Pipers Talk To Havlicek

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Havlicek, the Ohio State basketball star, met with Cleveland Pipers officials Monday, but president George Steinbrenner said after the session nothing definite was decided.

"We talked with John and told him what we could do," Steinbrenner said.

Havlicek was drafted by the Pipers of the American Basketball League and the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association. He also is being sought by the Cleveland Browns of the National Football league.

"I understand the Celtics are after him, and so are the Browns —for football," Steinbrenner said. "He said he'd try and let us know within a week."

Chinese Refugee Family Arrives From Hong Kong

CHICAGO (AP)—The first family of Chinese refugees admitted under President Kennedy's new emergency admission program arrived in Chicago today after a flight from Hong Kong.

The new arrivals are See Sueeng, 45, his wife Yung Sue-san, and three of their four children. They have been trying to come to the United States since applying for entry in 1955.

"This is the happiest day of my life," Eng announced through an interpreter.

"I am very happy that President Kennedy issued the refugee act and gave me and my family a chance to come to America to see my father and to take care of his business."

Eng plans to assume management of a restaurant operated for many years in suburban Park Ridge by his father, Frank Jing Eng, 79. The elder Eng, critically ill in a hospital, left China in 1916 and had never seen his son until 1959 when he visited Hong Kong.

A group of relatives, including the elder Eng's second wife, Yuk-Ping, were at O'Hare International Airport to meet them. Eng and his wife do not speak English. Their children are able to speak a little.

The union will try to enlist opposition to the consolidation of the two giant eastern systems from communities along the two roads.

IRON FIREMAN

Buying heating equipment is a big step for any family. Naturally you want to get the best possible value for your money . . . but never judge heating equipment on purchase price alone. Too many so-called "bargains" turn out to be the most expensive in the end.

Iron Fireman oil and gas heating equipment is built to give you service; it is built to give you years of luxurious comfort with outstanding fuel savings. It is not the lowest priced nor the highest—but in the long run it is by far your best dollar value.

Good installation is equally important. Our men are carefully selected, well equipped and factory trained. We will see that you get the full measure of comfort and fuel economy that is built into Iron Fireman equipment.

25-A HEATING SERVICE

When you think of GAS OR OIL HEATING think of
IRON FIREMAN

Buying heating equipment is a big step for any family. Naturally you want to get the best possible value for your money . . . but never judge heating equipment on purchase price alone. Too many so-called "bargains" turn out to be the most expensive in the end.

Iron Fireman oil and gas heating equipment is built to give you service; it is built to give you years of luxurious comfort with outstanding fuel savings. It is not the lowest priced nor the highest—but in the long run it is by far your best dollar value.

Good installation is equally important. Our men are carefully selected, well equipped and factory trained. We will see that you get the full measure of comfort and fuel economy that is built into Iron Fireman equipment.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I clean nickel?

A. Clean it with soap and water, rinse, then polish with a soft cloth. If this treatment is not sufficient, use whiting, or a fine cleaning powder, moistened with alcohol. Rinse and polish. Nickel darkens if not cleaned frequently. If the plating is damaged, it can be restored by a competent electroplator.

Q. What can I do about a black silk dress that has become a little "rusty" looking?

A. You can freshen it up by sponging with a little ammonia in a few spoonfuls of alcohol.

Q. Is there any way I can repair a plastic watch crystal that has become loosened through wear?

A. This can be refitted tightly by applying some colorless fingernail polish around the edge of the crystal. As many coats as necessary to increase the diameter of the crystal are used. Care should be taken to keep the polish from the surface of the crystal. After the last coat has dried, the edge is sanded lightly for a smooth fit.

Q. How can I clean off some old stains from leather upholstery?

A. By coating it with a mixture of powdered pipe clay and water, mixed to a paste. Allow this to remain for several hours, then brush off, repeating the process if necessary.

Q. What is a good way to clean silverware?

A. Common lump starch is an excellent agent for cleaning your silver. Rub it on with a damp cloth, allow it to stand for a few minutes, then rub dry with a cheesecloth.

Q. How can I remove grease spots from hardwood floors?

A. First scrub the spots with very hot water, then drop some ordinary peroxide of hydrogen on the spots, let dry, and in most cases the spot will vanish.

Junior Editors Quiz on LIGHT BULBS

QUESTION: Why does an electric light bulb go out when the glass is broken?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Inside an electric light bulb is a little pedestal of glass which holds up two kinds of wire. One kind is called the "lead-in" wire while the other is called the "filament." It is made of tungsten, and is attached at the top to the lead-in wires. The lead-in wires conduct electricity to the filament. The filament, because it is made of tungsten, resists electricity slightly. Its resistance is just enough so that when electricity passes through it, it glows and gives off light. But this is only possible if there is no air inside the bulb. If there were air, the oxygen in it would cause the filament to burn out. For this reason, the air is removed when the bulb is first made. But if the glass of the bulb is broken for any reason, air rushes in, and the light goes out.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Most electric light bulbs are frosted, whcih cuts down the glare but makes it difficult to see the interesting things inside. Try to find a clear bulb so that you can see the supporting wires and the tiny filament. Or look up from under the bottom of the frosting. you can generally see inside.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I have a dear friend whose company I enjoy thoroughly. She is kind, intelligent, witty and gracious. The problem is her husband. I don't know how much longer I can tolerate him.

He knows everything. Just mention a subject and he's an authority. Name a place and he's been there. There's no living person he hasn't met at one time or another.

He corrects people's statements, improves their English and assumes the role of "chairman" whenever two or more people are present. His voice is loud and he can drown out anyone.

In addition to these attractive qualities, he has a habit of pawing women. I don't mean he's lecherous, Ann — he's just the "confidential" type who likes to put his arm around a woman's waist when he talks to her about gardening or politics.

I'm fond of his wife and I hate to think of not seeing her socially. But this man of hers !!! Would it be wise to say something to her — in a tactful way of course? — FRIEND.

Dear Friend: It is never a good idea to criticize a man to his wife or vice versa. Regardless of the spirit in which the criticism is made it's seldom appreciated.

If your friend's husband is such a pain in the neck, see the woman in the afternoon. Don't try to continue the friendship on a "couples" basis.

Not In The Script

Dear Ann: Our 17-year-old son is going steady with a girl who is also 17. We've always made it clear to our children that they may bring their friends home whenever they wish.

This girl walked into the house with my son this afternoon. I was entertaining guests in the living room. My friends were strangers to her. She actually sat on my son's lap and ran her fingers through his hair.

He was embarrassed but said nothing. I was so upset over her cheap behavior I could scarcely hold my head up.

When the girl got off my son's lap to leave she kissed him passionately in the presence of all of us. He turned white and looked as if he might faint.

I didn't say one word to him after she left and he said nothing to me. He avoided looking at me at the dinner table.

Should I have made a point of the incident or was I wise to say nothing? — UNSTRUNG.

-:-

Dear Unstrung: You were wise, Mother. Anything you might say would have been anticlimactic after the girl's performance. Some decisions are best arrived at without help. I'm sure your son appreciated the silence.

Hurt By Comparison

Dear Ann: I'm a boy 14 and only in the seventh grade. I belong in the ninth grade but I was sick a year and a half with heart trouble and had to stay at home.

My sister is 12 and she is in my room at school. Believe me, it's tough to be in the same grade wih a sister who is smarter and two years younger. I hate to recite in class because I sound dumb compared with her.

There are times when I've thought of quitting school the day it's legal but I know this would be a mistake. Now I'd like your advice on whether I should change schools. My favorite teacher told me I could get special permission from the board of education, but I'm afraid I will miss my friends. What is your advice? — B.

-:-

Dear B.: Apparently your favorite teacher is encouraging you to change schools. She's right. Listen to her.

You will make new friends at the new school and you may even keep the old friends from the old school. So you win all the way 'round.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Newhouse Purchases New Orleans Papers

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)— Samuel I. Newhouse has added New Orleans' only two daily newspapers to his mushrooming publishing empire. He paid more than $37 million, believed to be a record amount for a newspaper property.

Newhouse purchased control of the jointly owned newspapers Monday by receiving offers to sell 248,925 of the 280,000 outstanding shares in the Times-Picayune Publishing Co.

The morning Times-Picayune, which celebrated its 125th anniversary earlier this year, and the afternoon States-Item become the 17th and 18th newspapers in Newhouse's coast-to-coast publishing empire. His string of newspapers includes large dailies in St. Louis, Mo., Portland, Ore., and Birmingham, Ala., as well as several large magazines.

Protective Diet Lauded By Overweight

It's always heartening to read a success letter. The ideal reducing diet is the one that helps an overweight cut her appetite down to size and to live happily slim on the new food pattern. A triumphant dieter writes:

Ida Jean Kain

"I was interested in your column about the man who has never heard of anyone losing 20 pounds and not regaining the weight.

"I am 31 years old and 5 feet 5 tall. Three years ago I weighed 165 pounds. Well, I tried all sorts of pills and liquids to curb my appetite. . .no success. I found that I kept eating just as much if not more in spite of the appetite curbers. I finally made up my mind to try eating a balanced, protective diet limited to 1,000 calories a day.

"FOR ENCOURAGEMENT I read your column and sent for exercises. I exercised 15 minutes daily. My husband, bless him, encouraged me also, and finally I began to lose on the average of two pounds each week. I am now, three years later, down to 121 pounds.

"I have changed my eating habits. I no longer eat for the sake of eating like a pig. I eat what I want but I don't overeat. If I feel hungry for a small portion of pie, or for candy or potato chips, I have some, but never in excess. I find that small amounts of sweets satisfy me completely. I prefer eating the way I do now.

"I watch the scales and if I gain a couple of pounds I cut down on bread and sweets for a few days. I am much happier, have more confidence in myself, feel a lot better and have more pep.

"So to that Doubting Thomas who doesn't believe an overweight can lose 20 pounds or more on a balanced, protective diet of 1,000 calories a day and keep the weight off, I would like to tell him it can be done. I know. I lost 40 pounds three years ago and never regained the weight.

"I didn't buy special foods, I ate the same things I cooked for my husband, but I ate smaller portions," she concluded.

This young woman has found the secret of keeping slim. She reduced on a protective pattern, cutting her portions down to slimming size. She changed her food habits while she was slimming down, which is the intelligent way to reduce. Keeping slim is a natural for she is happy to follow this right plan of eating for the rest of her life.

—:—

TO SHAPE UP as she slimmed down, this wise dieter exercised daily to restore tone to the figure controlling muscles. Toned muscles discourage a return of fat. All in all, for this young woman, keeping slim is a joy. Congratulations!

Ohio's Top Car Insurer Offers Drivers New Policy Benefits

New Feature Cuts Reasons For Company Cancellation Before End Of Policy Term

Responding to the long-felt need for a form of guaranteed driving protection, Nationwide has added an important new benefit to its private passenger auto policies in the state. This exclusive "non-cancellable" provision, effective automatically for most present Nationwide policyholders at no extra charge, limits the reasons why the company may cancel liability and medical expense coverages before normal expiration date.

Three Reasons Only

Now, with Nationwide, in Ohio, liability and medical expense coverages that have been in force for more than 60 days may be revoked during the policy's term only for the following reasons: non-payment of premium, fraudulent claims statement, and driving while under the influence of alcohol or narcotics. Three reasons that make sense, you'll agree.

Family Compensation

Another advanced benefit, exclusive with Nationwide in Ohio, is the Family Compensation Coverage. This unique feature pays daily disability and death benefits; hospital and medical bills (within policy limits) for accident injuries to you, your family, or occupants of your car. In many cases, others injured by your car are also protected—no matter who's at fault.

Satisfied Customers

Proof of policyholder satisfaction is revealed by the company's high rate of renewals. According to official records over 90% of all Nationwide policyholders renew their coverage each year.

Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company · home office: Columbus, Ohio

PEACE OF MIND—with Nationwide car insurance. Wherever you travel this summer—beach, picnic grounds or cross-country—your Nationwide policy provides the most complete auto coverage available today.

Fast Claims Service With Local Drive-In Stations

With more than 1,500 experienced claimsmen stationed throughout the U.S. and Canada, Nationwide has a record of fast claims payment to be proud of. For example, over half of all Nationwide auto claims are paid within 24 hours after proof of loss—two-thirds under 72 hours.

In Many Major Cities

One reason for this prompt service is Nationwide's network of Drive-In Claims stations, now located in many major cities. When a Nationwide policyholder in one of these cities has an accident, he simply phones his agent to arrange for inspection at the Drive-In station. Then he drives in, has his damage checked, and is on his way with our check in hand—usually within a few minutes – to have his car repaired.

Eleven In Ohio

In Ohio, Nationwide has Drive-In Claims stations in Akron, Canton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Lorain, Mansfield, Toledo, Warren and Youngstown, and several more stations are scheduled to be opened within the coming months.

Nationwide Offers Discount Plans And Low Rates To Thousands of Ohio Drivers

Nationwide Insurance of Columbus, insurer of over 600,000 Ohio drivers, recently announced liberalized insurance benefits and savings to its Ohio auto policyholders.

Through a unique system of discounts, it is possible for a car owner to realize cumulative savings of more than 20% over the company's regular low rates. These discounts include: "second car" discounts, which apply to each of two or more cars insured with Nationwide, plus special discounts for compact cars. Further savings are possible in the case of a "youthful trained driver"—a driver under 25 years of age who has successfully completed an accredited course of driving instruction.

Long A Leader

For many years the favorite with Ohio drivers, Nationwide is known as a pioneer in developing new, needed forms of protection. One reason is to be found in the company's origin—its founding in 1926 by a small group of Ohioans who formed their own car insurance company to get the protection they needed at rates they could afford.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I have a dear friend whose company I enjoy thoroughly. She is kind, intelligent, witty and gracious. The problem is her husband. I don't know how much longer I can tolerate him.

He knows everything. Just mention a subject and he's an authority. Name a place and he's been there. There's no living person he hasn't met at one time or another.

He corrects people's statements, improves their English and assumes the role of "chairman" whenever two or more people are present. His voice is loud and he can drown out anyone.

In addition to these attractive qualities, he has a habit of pawing women. I don't mean he's lecherous, Ann — he's just the "confidential" type who likes to put his arm around a woman's waist when he talks to her about gardening or politics.

I'm fond of his wife and I hate to think of not seeing her socially. But this man of hers !!! Would it be wise to say something to her — in a tactful way of course? — FRIEND.

Dear Friend: It is never a good idea to criticize a man to his wife or vice versa. Regardless of the spirit in which the criticism is made it's seldom appreciated.

If your friend's husband is such a pain in the neck, see the woman in the afternoon. Don't try to continue the friendship on a "couples" basis.

Not In The Script

Dear Ann: Our 17-year-old son is going steady with a girl who is also 17. We've always made it clear to our children that they may bring their friends home whenever they wish.

This girl walked into the house with my son this afternoon. I was entertaining guests in the living room. My friends were strangers to her. She actually sat on my son's lap and ran her fingers through his hair.

He was embarrassed but said nothing. I was so upset over her cheap behavior I could scarcely hold my head up.

When the girl got off my son's lap to leave she kissed him passionately in the presence of all of us. He turned white and looked as if he might faint.

I didn't say one word to him after she left and he said nothing to me. He avoided looking at me at the dinner table.

Should I have made a point of the incident or was I wise to say nothing? — UNSTRUNG.

-:-

Dear Unstrung: You were wise, Mother. Anything you might say would have been anticlimactic after the girl's performance. Some decisions are best arrived at without help. I'm sure your son appreciated the silence.

Hurt By Comparison

Dear Ann: I'm a boy 14 and only in the seventh grade. I belong in the ninth grade but I was sick a year and a half with heart trouble and had to stay at home.

My sister is 12 and she is in my room at school. Believe me, it's tough to be in the same grade wih a sister who is smarter and two years younger. I hate to recite in class because I sound dumb compared with her.

There are times when I've thought of quitting school the day it's legal but I know this would be a mistake. Now I'd like your advice on whether I should change schools. My favorite teacher told me I could get special permission from the board of education, but I'm afraid I will miss my friends. What is your advice? — B.

-:-

Dear B.: Apparently your favorite teacher is encouraging you to change schools. She's right. Listen to her.

You will make new friends at the new school and you may even keep the old friends from the old school. So you win all the way 'round.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
